Co-operative Society Trustee Declares Supposed $2,600,000 Shortage Is a "Fairy Tale."

TWO MEN ARRESTED IN BANKRUPTCY CASE

Attorney for Creditors in Receivership Suit and a Broker Charged With Operating Confidence Game.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Oct. 14.—Securities amounting to $700,000 were turned over by Harrison Parker, trustee of the Co-Operative Society of America, today to Julius Moses, counsel for the Central Trust Co., receiver for the society. Parker declared that these securities completed the amounts previously listed as "missing" and that the supposed $2,600,000 shortage was a "fairy tale."

Other supposed securities were mostly "old certificates of the Fruitvale project which were turned over to the Great Western Securities Company," financial agent of the Co-Operative Society, Parker said. He was to take the stand again today in bankruptcy proceedings now being held against the society.

Joseph Levy, a broker, and Henry M. Ashton, attorney of record for the creditors in the Parker Co-Operative Society receivership suit, were arrested today, charged with operating a confidence game.

The men were arrested on complaints of F. V. Persons of this city, who said he was forced to sign notes aggregating $28,000 on threat of being thrown into bankruptcy. He stated half of that amount had been collected.

Ashton characterized the complaint as an aftermath of his suit against the co-operative society. He and Levy were released on $10,000 bonds.

LUMBER BUYER IS WITNESS FOR TRADE EXCHANGE

wise, he said he supposed they did, as that was the general practice and the evil for which the Trade Exchange was created to eliminate.

How Long Was Made Up.

When money was loaned by dealers for large buildings, Ganahl testified, the lumber dealers made up the loss on "the other fellow."

"Who were the other fellows?" inquired Attorney-General Barrett.

"The little purchaser," Ganahl answered.

"The home builder?" asked the Attorney-General.

"Yes," Ganahl answered. "The man who built a chicken house or put up a fence."

The Attorney-General asked if the lumber dealers had reformed. Ganahl did not know. Neither did he know what methods the dealers were using now, but what lumber he is getting for the car company is up to grade.

When asked why he and his brother were not friendly, he said it was because his brother did not help him when he was in financial straits.

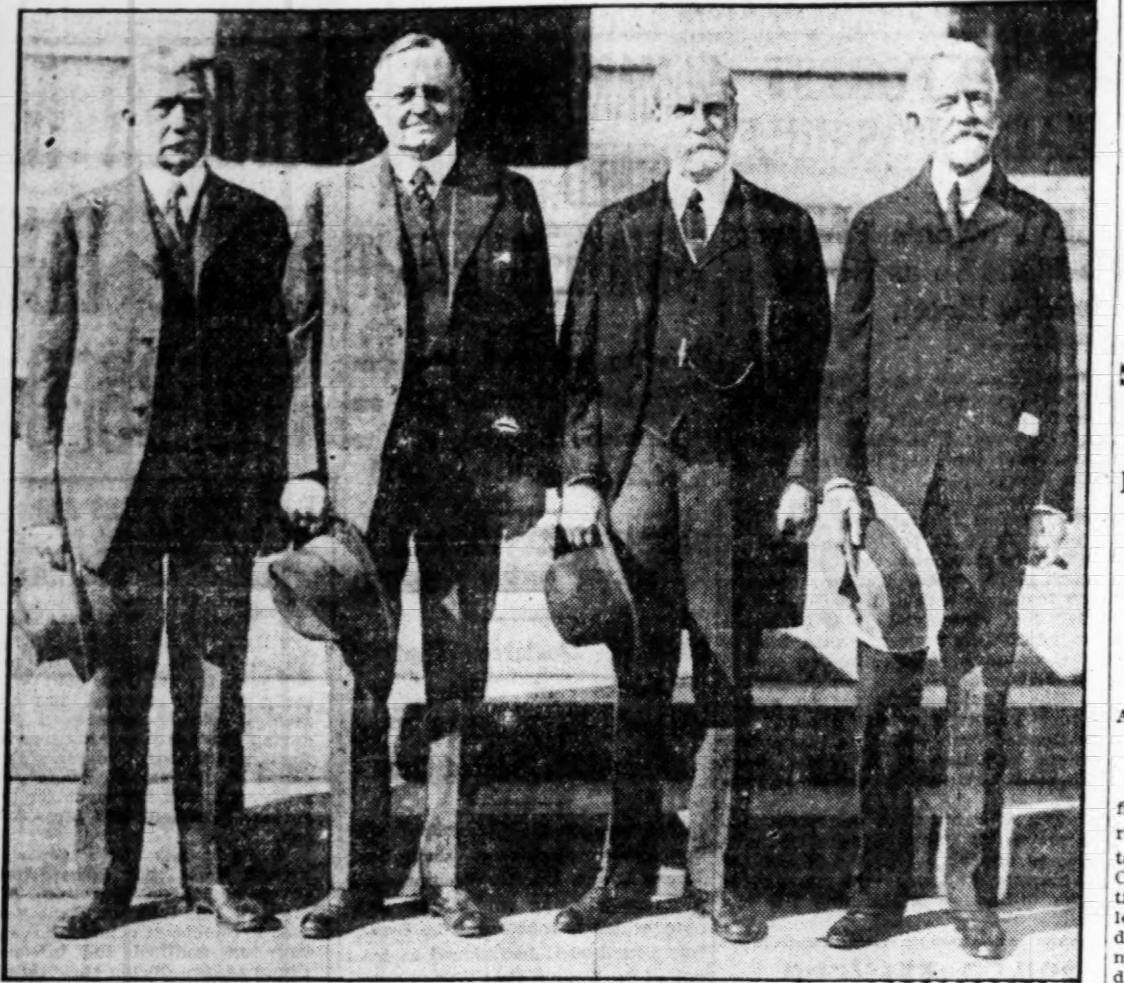

John A. Reheis, president of the St. Louis Lumber Co., followed Ganahl as a witness for the defense, and cross-examination by Assistant Attorney-General Otto, disclosed that his firm, in 1917 or prior thereto, had substituted inferior grades of lumber at prices of superior grades.

Says Tricks Were Resorted to.

On direct examination Reheis testified competition prior to the creation of the trade exchange was ruinous; that dealers had resorted to substitution of grades, such as giving No. 3 lumber when No. 2, a superior grade, was ordered, and charged for it at a higher price than No. 2. He said the dealers resorted to all sorts of tricks in making estimates and giving private discounts to contractors.

Conditions became so bad that urgent reforms were necessary, the witness said, and the exchange was formed. He added that there is still an occasional violation of the rules by members of the exchange, with

SIGNIFICANCE DAWNING ON ADMINISTRATION

Business Stagnation Caused by Excess Profits Tax Now Paralleled by Levy That

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—The first effects of the unscientific, or rather disjointed, way in which the tax problem has been tackled in Congress is being felt by the executive branch of the Government. It leaked out today that after selling during three weeks in September more than $100,000,000 worth of industrial and railroad bonds held by the Treasury, the sales stopped abruptly as soon as the agricultural "block" in the Senate forced the Republican leaders to agree to higher surtaxes amounting to about 50 per cent.

Money that had been expected to flow into business and cause a reopening of factories and a revival of export trade has sought other channels of investment. The trouble is that in Congress the feeling prevailed that the higher surtaxes should be imposed in order to bring up the revenue that would be lost through the removal of other taxes falling on smaller incomes. The argument was made that wealth should be taxed heavily.

Broad Policy of Economics.

But as Government officials point out, it is not a question of discrimination between large and small incomes but a broad policy of economics. Business enterprises have been held stagnant, initiative has been repelled, and the country's reconstruction retarded by the vicious character of the excess profits tax.

Otis asked if the choice of the people is to pay the prevailing prices of lumber or be subjected to the imposition of old methods, and Reheis responded in the affirmative.

Tells of Consulting Lawyers.

Yesterday's testimony by witnesses for the defense, given by three St. Louis dealers, who are members of the exchange, was, for the most part, in defense of a practice of the exchange in requiring a service charge added to the wholesale price of lumber, below which members of the organization cannot sell without breaking a rule that is assured quality and measure.

It was his opinion that without the service charge, which is presently $5 to $10 thousand feet and 15 per cent of the wholesale price, which is added to the price of lumber together with a profit, the members of the exchange would revert to policies pursued prior to 1917.

Testimony of Witnesses for Defense at Hearing Yesterday.

Reheis' testimony by witnesses for the defense, given by three St. Louis dealers, who are members of the exchange, was, for the most part, in defense of a practice of the exchange in requiring a service charge added to the wholesale price of lumber, below which members of the organization cannot sell without breaking a rule that is assured quality and measure.

He testified that the exchange never had sought to fix prices and that prices never were discussed at meetings. The effect of reforms brought about by the exchange, Reheis testified, was "a satisfied public that is now getting what it pays for and is assured quality and measure."

It was his opinion that without the service charge, which is presently $5 to $10 thousand feet and 15 per cent of the wholesale price, which is added to the price of lumber together with a profit, the members of the exchange would revert to policies pursued prior to 1917.

Otis asked if the choice of the people is to pay the prevailing prices of lumber or be subjected to the imposition of old methods, and Reheis responded in the affirmative.

Question Objected To.

He was allowed to cross-examine Reheis in his opinion that a lumber dealer who gave short measure or substituted inferior grades of lumber at superior grade prices, was not obtaining money by false pretenses or by fraud. This question was objected to and sustained, although Meacham had answered it before Carter could object.

Otis, who was questioning Meacham, then asked what he thought of the Helm Lumber Co. for substituting inferior grades of lumber on air order for the city of St. Louis. (The Helm Co. is not a member of the Trade Exchange.)

He testified that one of the purposes of the exchange was to prevent the cost of doing business, but does not represent the entire cost. It is added to the replacement cost of lumber, and fluctuates as costs vary from time to time. It has been shown in testimony of the defense that the service charge, added to the wholesale price, provides a prior to show the dealer a minimum below which he cannot go without actual loss.

Trend of the Testimony.

The burden of the lumbermen's testimony was that they did not know any dealers who had given short measure or substituted inferior grades of lumber, but he understood that this was the practice of many dealers several years ago. He testified members of the trade exchange paid dues of 75 cents per thousand feet of lumber they sold, which, it was calculated, amounted to about $75,000 a year.

He could not remember that he had ever been chairman of the Arbitration Board of the exchange that tried members for violation of the service charge rule, and his memory was hazy as to what year he was a member of the board or how long he had served. Records of the Board of Arbitration, showing him as chairman, did not seem to refresh his memory.

Questioned as to Fines.

It was established by lengthy questioning that his company, when it was the O'Neill-Wiles Lumber Co., had been fined by the Board of Arbitration for violating the service charge rule at the time he was chairman of the board.

Explanations followed in his testimony in which he said his company had never resorted to illegal practices and was cited and fined by the exchange for making low prices, giving short measure and substituting inferior lumber at prices of better grades, because it seemed to be the general policy at that time to do business in this manner.

This policy, he explained, was occasioned by the necessity of meeting competition of the same sort. When it was shown that it would be necessary to continue this practice to make a reasonable profit or go out of business, his company gave up the retail part of its business rather than continue the questionable method.

Testimony of M. E. Meacham.

POTASH TREATMENT SAID TO RELIEVE CANCER SUFFERERS

Chicago Surgeon Tells of Progress Being Made in Fight on Disease.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CHICAGO, Oct. 14.—Potash injected into the veins is, declared to stop the pain cancer patients suffer. The success of this remedy in combating the disease was announced today to the Central Society of Physical Therapeutics at its fourth annual convention in the Hotel LaSalle by a Chicago surgeon, Dr. Howard Plank. In nitrate and ether forms of potash Dr. Plank feels the world may be near the discovery of a control for cancer.

He burns cancer out by using both high frequency currents of electricity and radium. Then he fortifies the blood by injections of potash to neutralize those chemical changes in the system which he holds responsible. In cancer in at least one out of every 10 men and women who pass the meridian of life and find the current of vitality beginning to ebb.

Dr. Plank presented figures to show that in his last 116 cases of "epithelial" cancer, his methods failed to benefit in only five. The average length of treatment required has been only 10 weeks.

CLOAKS STOLEN FROM LODGE ROOM.

YOUNG SOCIETY WOMAN OF LONDON IS FOUND WANDERING

After Being Missing Three Days, She Is Discovered in Woods by a Motorcyclist.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Oct. 14.—Mystery surrounds the case of Miss Pamela Beckett, a young society woman of this city, who was discovered yesterday almost helpless in Cuffley Woods, after she had been missing for three days. It seems that she wandered for nearly 20 miles before being found, and that she was trying to reach a house in Barnet, where, until about a year ago, her family lived. She was within four miles of Barnet when discovered.

A motorcyclist named Hughes had dismounted from his machine and was wandering through Cuffley Woods in search of berries when he saw the girl lying on the ground shivering. He had not seen late news papers and was unaware of the girl's identity, but, it being evident she was very ill, he offered assistance.

She replied she was "all right," but the fact is the Government found a ready market for its securities when the trade exchange had almost eliminated that practice almost entirely with the result that the House bill made the surtaxes about 32 per cent, which, with the addition of 8 per cent normal tax, makes the total Federal tax about 40 per cent.

This, too, is considered high, but the fact is the Government found a ready market for its securities when the trade exchange had almost eliminated that practice almost entirely with the result that the House bill made the surtaxes about 32 per cent, which, with the addition of 8 per cent normal tax, makes the total Federal tax about 40 per cent.

It is believed that the higher surtaxes should be imposed in order to reach up for revenue that would be lost through the removal of other taxes falling on smaller incomes.

BURIAL TOMORROW AT VALLEY FORGE

Death to Make Changes in Committees Necessary—Spencer Mentioned for Important Post.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—Governmental affairs of the nation halted today while its leaders, headed by President Harding, attended the funeral services for the late Senator Knox of Pennsylvania, former Secretary of State and Attorney-General.

The services were held at 11 o'clock, at St. John's Episcopal Church, which he attended, and were conducted by the Right Rev. Alfred Harding, Bishop of Washington.

At the church were those prominent in American public life. President and Mrs. Harding, Secretary Christian and the President's military said, Col. Sherrell, occupied the front pew before the black silk-covered casket, which bore a large cluster of red roses.

The lighting effects have been improved, and the work of the entire cast and orchestra now is running smoothly so as not to interrupt the concentration which the drama induces. The total number of participants in the drama is about 300.

Members of the Supreme Court, headed by Chief Justice Taft, occupied the next pew and behind them were members of the Cabinet, including Secretary Hughes, Mellon, Hoover and Weeks and Postmaster General Hayes.

Half of Senators Present.

Almost half of Knox's associates of the Senate were present. The honorary pallbearers were the members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee headed by Senator Lodge of Massachusetts, Senator Penrose of Pennsylvania and Senator Underwood of Alabama, Democratic floor leader.

Unfortunately this is impossible and there can only be two remaining performances, Friday and Saturday evenings. Those who have not yet witnessed the production are urged to do so. SIX PHYSICIANS AGREE
MEYER WAS POISONED

Witnesses Also Testify Fatal Dose Was Taken Within 48 Hours of His Death.

By the Associated Press.
TWIN FALLS, Idaho, Oct. 14.—Decision by the court on the question of the admission of testimony having to do with the deaths of three previous husbands and a brother-in-law of Lydia Meyer Southard was announced today in the trial of the woman for the murder of her fourth husband, Edward F. Meyer.

The decision has the effect of letting in all testimony which the State may elect to offer as to the circumstances of death in all four cases. As a result of it the case is likely to continue for another 10 days.

All six physicians called upon to reply to a hypothetical question some 3000 words in length setting forth practically all the evidence so far adduced by the State in the case agreed that Mrs. Meyer Southard failed to poison the said poison was administered at intervals during his illness and that the final dose which actually caused death was taken by him within 48 hours prior to his demise.

The State's case is practically closed, as far as the death of Meyer is concerned.

According to Prosecuting Attorney Frank Stephan, the State has in its possession evidence tending to prove that the defendant committed four other murders by means of poison, in each of which cases life insurance was paid the move behind the act.

According to reports for the defense they will put on only a few witnesses. The entire defense will not occupy more than a day or two.

MRS. FRAZER NOT INDICTED

Grand Jury Makes No Charge for Shooting of Husband.

The grand jury yesterday afternoon refused an indictment in the case of Mrs. L. Frazer, 59 years old, of 8132 McKissick avenue, who shot and fatally wounded her husband, John J. Frazer, 52, at 9 o'clock last Sunday night.

The testimony at the Coroner's inquest was that Frazer, who had been arrested in the afternoon on a charge of disturbing his wife's peace, returned home that night, and was attempting to force his way into the house with a spade, when Mrs. Frazer shot him. He died several hours later at the city hospital.

TEAMSTERS' AGENT ARRESTED
AFTER FIGHT WITH WOMAN

Charles Lanham, 33 years old, of 1624 North Sixteenth street, business agent of the Teamsters Union, was arrested yesterday following a fight at the home of Mrs. Edward J. Fleming, 1625 North Sixteenth street, in which Mrs. Fleming was knocked down and beaten and Lanham was cut on the head.

Mrs. Fleming told the police that Lanham had "punched her face" because she was permitting her furniture to be moved by an unlicensed mover. She said the mover was a friend of the family and was doing the work for nothing.

Lanham said that when he questioned the mover's right to do the work Mrs. Fleming hit him with a hatchet. He has been active in several strikes of the Teamsters' Union.

1,000 IDLE IN LONDON
STAGE DEMONSTRATION

processions Broken Up, but Deputations Visit Premier's Home, Demanding Relief.

The Associated Press

London, Oct. 14.—The Cabinet

committee on unemployment issued a statement last night saying that the deputation, representing the unemployed, after a conference with the Premier's secretaries, was requested that a national fund of relief should be established and submitted plans for this. Sir

Hoover replied that the Government was engaged in considering various names and that the Prime Minister would make a full statement in the House next week.

Addressing a meeting at the Manner House yesterday to consider means of dealing with the unemployment situation, Lord Burnham said that not a single newspaper in London today was making a profit and that not a single paper mill was making a profit. Lord Burnham argued that employers are not going for a reduction in workers'

wages unjustifiably.

England's unemployment crisis is responsible for notable demonstrations yesterday in London, Sheffield and Manchester. More than 4,000 unemployed participated in a London demonstration, which started from mid-afternoon until after dark, but while owing to exceptional preparatory measures by the police, passed off with only a few walls broken and some window broke.

Deputation Visits Premier.

The demonstrators were prevented from invading Whitehall, but a deputation consisting of five men and a woman, describing itself as the Administrative Council of National Employment," was passed through the police lines and admitted to Pressier Lloyd George's official residence in Downing street. The Pressier had gone out, and so the secondary deputation received the deputation.

The deputation remained in the Premier's residence for half an hour, and upon emerging the spokesman told the press that he had nothing to report, but added: "As far as we are concerned, we are satisfied."

The deputation was handed a letter from the Premier stating that the Government was well aware of the gravity of the situation and was working every possible endeavor to apple it.

The Cabinet Committee on Unemployment is understood to be making a final draft of a plan to relieve the situation. If it is finished by today, Mr. Lloyd George is expected to move his labor committee to the ministry and submit the proposition.

The demonstrators yesterday assembled on the Thames embankment, converging toward Whitehall,

Downing street and Trafalgar

Square as their objectives. The arrests had issued a warning that no meeting should be held in Trafalgar Square except on Saturdays.

Procurement Broken Up.

The Westminster police, reinforced by others from all parts of metropolis, diverted the procession northward and succeeded in breaking up the formation, scattering the marchers through the streets as far as Shaftesbury avenue. Large groups debouched into St. Martin's Lane and other approaches to Trafalgar Square. Several clashes with the police occurred as matinee audiences were leaving theaters in that district, and for a time the situation appeared grave. Thousands, driven back toward the embankment, tried to reassemble, but the police kept them moving, and the contingents were scattered across bridges.

LONDON, Oct. 14.—The Cabinet committee on unemployment issued a statement last night saying that a deputation representing the unemployed, after a conference with the Premier's secretaries, was received by Sir Alfred Mond, one of the members of the committee. The delegation asked that a national scale of relief should be established and submitted plans for this. Sir Mond replied that the Government was engaged in considering various measures and that the Prime Minister would make a full statement in the House next week.

Addressing a meeting at the Manse House yesterday to consider means of dealing with the unemployment situation, Lord Burnham said that not a single newspaper in London today was making a profit and that certainly no paper will be making a profit. Schooner Elsie Wins Right to Defend Championship

Noted Sea Story Writer Describes Gloucester Fishing Craft's Victory in Elimination Test.

By the Associated Press.
GLOUCESTER, Mass., Oct. 14.—The Elsie, a saucy little schooner out of Gloucester, yesterday won the title as the fastest craft in the fisheries of New England and selection as the racing representative of the United States in the international match to be sailed with a Canadian champion off Halifax, N. S., eight days hence.

In a race of 40 miles off Cape Ann, with winds and a current that provided a lively test of sailing qualities, she outdistanced four other speedy vessels of the Gloucester and Princeton fleets. The time of the winner was 5 hours, 14 minutes and 32 seconds. She slipped along at 12 to 15 knots speed at times in reaches and runs with a 24-knot breeze.

By JAMES D. CONNOLLY, The Noted Writer of Sea Stories. (Copyright, 1921, by James D. Connolly.)

GLOUCESTER, Mass., Oct. 14.—This year they picked what the experts decided was the best vessel in sight for the famous Marty Welsh, who sailed the Esperanto to international victory last year off Halifax. Elsie was her name, and a great all-round vessel she was rated to be. Having been with Marty in the Esperanto last year, I would dearly have liked to be with him this year in the Elsie, but when I reached Gloucester on the eve of the race I was not surprised to learn that nobody in Marty's crew had the least notion of going ashore from her until this international race was settled. A man might torpedo them out of their bunks, but nothing less violent was going to move them.

So I cruised along the water and thought of Matheson, who was Marty's mate last year, looking with a critical eye at the Arthur James. "They want a vessel to give the Elsie a good test in this elimination try-out," says John. "I don't know what this one of mine will do."

Tested by 17-Year-Old Craft.

The Arthur James is 17 years old and she had been seining all spring and summer. She also had an engine in her, and an engine set high up does not make the best ballast for a racing vessel. Also she had a jib that John did not like and she had a staysail and one topsail that he had salvaged from some vessel which had been hauled up for the winter.

"But I got to help out Marty," said John, and so he threw a crew together and, taking the old Arthur James just as she was, he sailed out to do little damage of her crew slept too late, which is how I came to be aboard her in the race.

Wednesday it was all fog and no wind but yesterday was different. From the northwest a fine snappy breeze was blowing. Standing out past Eastern Point, we were sending our ralls all but under when we caught the squalls from off the high shore.

There were five of us out there, one, the Phillip Manta, was only two-thirds the tonnage of the other four, but Ben Pine had entered her first of all, also to make sure Marty Welsh's Elsie would have competition. They all showed good spirit. Capt. Alvaro Quadros had gone to the expense of taking his engine out of the ship. Brown to put her in shape to run against vessels somewhat bigger than herself. Another boat, the Elsie Silver, was also quite a bit smaller than the two big ones. However, they were at the start maneuvering. Some nice maneuvering, too, as we came down all five to the line with our scupper deep under and our pennants snapping. Most people I met were not allowing the Arthur James much of a chance.

Scene of Elimination Trial. Such judges must have got a shock when Capt. Matheson gave her a shoot under the Elsie's stern and across the line and up into the Elsie's wind as the starting signal banged. We gave the gallery something more to talk about when our skipper cut past the bow of the Elsie.

They were all handsome vessels, and any moving picture men who failed to make the great picture of us as we went bolting away from the judges' boat ought to be put away. It was a beautiful day, bright morning sun, pale green, lively water and the brown rocks of old Cape Ann for a shore background. Also, of course, all over the seascape were the sail and steaming craft fighting for the best spot from which to see things.

Two miles from the start and we had the Elsie under our lee beam. Four miles from the start and we had her under our length. Twice they tried to shoot the Elsie up to our weather, but "nothing like that," said our skipper, and "weathered him off."

The five-mile buoy with the red flag danced merrily ahead of us. "I don't like to do this to an old chum," shouted Capt. Matheson back to Marty. "The sailing is sailing," and he rolled the James on her heel and around the buoy. The Elsie's bowsprit all but hit the stern of our main boom as she rounded behind us. That first five miles had been sailed in just inside 25 minutes, a shade better than 12 knots an hour. Not bad for an old plug out of trim and with not nearly enough wind to suit her.

* Stayall Refuses to Hold.

Leaving that first buoy with started webs, we had great dreams. Wouldn't it be the wonderful thing if the breeze held and maybe freshened, and we carried the lead all the rubber boot and the arch of the other on the forepeak halyard and out he went like a tight-rope walker to the end of the forecastle. The James at this time was doing 12 knots good and everything aloft was swinging through big arcs.

Lou cleared the fouled stayall halyard and came back to the mast-head.

"You damn fool," said Dave.

"They're hoisting the stayalls.

Overtaken During Delay.

The stayall was hoisted but the delay was enough for the Elsie and Brown to pass us and we never did overhaul them. The man who said a steel chase is a long chase must have been in the hindmost boat of the Elsie. What he means by a steel chase is hard to understand.

The race was over at the third turn 25 miles from the start. The time was two hours and a quarter, good going for that breeze. From there on it was a beat with the wind falling.

All the submarines and sub-chasers and trollers and smoke boats with tug boats and yachts everything was a smash hit in it, gave the Elsie a salutary wake across the line. And those that did not have whistles blew fog horns. And she earned it. She showed herself a good all-round vessel and of course Capt. Marty Walsh sailed her well.

Whichever you choose it will be the BEST you ever taste.

PRAYERS FOR DISARMAMENT TO BE OFFERED BY BAPTISTS

Prayers for the success of the enterprise "in behalf of disarmament and the bringing of peace to the world" will be offered in all the Baptist churches of the city on Armistice day, and all the days of the disarmament conference in Washington. This was decided by the St. Louis Baptist Association, in annual session at the Euclid Baptist Church, 1541 North King's highway, yesterday afternoon.

It was voted that on the opening day of the conference, Nov. 11, a union Baptist prayer meeting should be held at some central church. The place has not been named, but at the Second Baptist Church, King's highway and Washington boulevard, arrangements were announced several weeks ago for a community prayer service at 11 o'clock on that day.

Reports of the churches showed 50 baptisms in the last year, and total congregational additions of 1720. Euclid Church headed the list with 255 additions and 130 baptisms. A new congregation, to be known as the Southwest Baptist Church, was approved, and a church will be erected at Watson road and Scanlan avenue.

Dr. W. G. Tyzzer, 4702 Lewis place, was elected Moderator.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—William J. Simmons, Imperial Wizard of the Ku Klux Klan, was prevented by illness today from appearing before a House committee for examination by members as to activities of the order.

Chairman Campbell adjourned the hearing after stating that Dr. Manning had informed him that Simmons could not possibly appear earlier than Monday. Should his condition

Charles H. McKeel of Bethlehem, Pa., Once Conducted Printing Shop Here.

Charles Haviland McKeel, former St. Louisan, noted internationally as a collector of and dealer in postage stamps, died yesterday in Bethlehem, Pa., at the age of 57. The funeral will be held there Monday afternoon.

McKeel was formerly proprietor of a printing establishment on Locust street, near Eleventh, and in connection with this business he conducted his postage stamp trade and the publication of periodicals for stamp collectors. In the 90's the name of McKeel was known throughout the country to schoolboys who collected postage stamps. The McKeel home was Conlight Hall, 11 St. Louis County, until his removal to Pennsylvania. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Anna Maude McKeel. He was a graduate of the law school of Washington University, and a member of the Sons of the Revolution and other patriotic societies.

improve, however, the hearing may be resumed tomorrow.

Simmons was found to be suffering from "bronchitis and nervous exhaustion," it was said yesterday after his collapse on the stand, and the attending physicians doubted whether he would be able to undergo the questioning scheduled for today.

The all-day session yesterday was seldom without a moment of unusual interest. The Klan's founder, palpably not in normal health, seemed eager to continue his denunciation of those who had filed charges of lawlessness and bigotry against the organization. His references to former members among the attackers was particularly bitter.

Collapse of Wizard Yesterday Followed Long Defense of Klan.

Closing an all-day defense of the Ku Klux Klan, Simmons toppled over in a chair yesterday afternoon while the chairman of a House committee investigating the order was attempting to stop applause which he believed showed knew the Wizard had collapsed.

Simmons was bundled up about the chest when he returned to the afternoon session.

A solemn stillness prevailed at times while the Wizard, holding the ritual of the Klan, read parts of the oath taken by Klansmen, and then, in husky tones, told the committee that while Julius Caesar had his Brutus and Washington his Benedict Arnold, he, too, as Imperial Wizard of the Ku Klux, could enter that fellowship, because he had suffered from the treasonable conduct of those within.

"If this organization is unworthy, then let me know and I will destroy it," he exclaimed, "but if it is not, then let it stand."

Turning to the crowd, Simmons declared he wanted to "call upon the father to forgive those who had persecuted the Klan," and as the words left his lips he tumbled into a heap.

The first dramatic incident of the day was the sudden appearance of Senator Thomas E. Watson of Georgia, who, edging his way through the crowd, stepped up and seized the wizard by the hand. Whispering something, he turned and sat down, but a moment later he was on his feet, demanding the right to question the witness in "the interest of fair play."

Chairman Campbell broke in to say that the witness was getting that, and that it was not in line with regular procedure to permit questions by outsiders.

Senator Watson insisted he had the right, first announcing, however, that he was not a Klansman, although in sympathy with its aims, and the chairman cut through the colloquy by directing the Senator to proceed. The Senator merely asked the wizard if he knew of the big salaries being voted by Congress for Shipping Board lawyers, reaching as high as $25,000, which the people had to pay. With that Watson departed.

Membership Said to Be 90,000.

Through the testimony of Simmons the committee learned that the total membership of the Klan, heralded as having passed the half-million mark, actually was around 30,000. The witness declared that its growth East and West had been greater than in the South, but his illness prevented questioning designed to bring out facts bearing on some of the present strongholds of the organization. Asked if he had not claimed "million membership," Simmons smilingly replied he might have done so, but that he was breaking general rules.

Representative Garrett, Democrat of Tennessee, took the witness in hand to find out something about the order's revenues and profits, asking if membership fees had been listed as donations rather than fees to prevent collection of Federal corporation taxes. Simmons replied there was never a thought of that, declaring that when the tax law first became effective, he went to the revenue office at Atlanta and was informed that the Klan did not come under the law.

"If it does, it is not my fault," the Wizard said, "and if it is shown we shall stand ready to meet our obligation."

Denying huge profits from the sale of robes, the witness declared that less than 30 per cent of the Klansmen owned regalia.

"Our robes are not worn for the purpose of terrorizing people," he shouted. "They are as innocent as the breath of an angel."

The witness was pressed by Chairman Campbell for an explanation of the recent clash between a Sheriff and marching Klansmen near Waco, Tex., and while he replied that his information was based largely upon newspaper reports, he added that the parade had been authorized by the Mayor, and that the Sheriff, in attempting to stop it, "was armed under the influence of liquor." Simmons said he had called for an official report, but it had not been forthcoming.

SAYS BONUS MIGHT COST STATE $30,000,000

Treasurer Thompson Points to Total of Interest if All Bonds Run Twenty Years.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Oct. 14.—Payment of a bonus to Missourians who served in the military or naval service during the world war, and for which a bond issue of $15,000,000 was voted by the people of the State last August, will, in the aggregate, cost far more than, according to figures being prepared by State Treasurer W. E. Thompson. He estimates that, if the bulk of the bonds run throughout the entire 20-year limit placed upon them, the total may approximate between $22,000,000 and $30,000,000.

The bonds are to draw not exceeding 5 per cent interest and are to run not longer than 20 years. So, if the entire issue is sold in the beginning, interest for the first year will be $750,000. This rate, continued for 20 years, would aggregate $15,000,000, the face of issue.

Another thing which could help to pyramid the cost of the bonus would be the expected difficulty in selling the issue close to its par value. Thompson said the bulk of the bond firms who had made inquiries of him with a view to bidding on the securities, were considering the making of offers ranging from 90 to 97. Thompson said he had been advised that if the bonds could be put in the market now, or in the very near future, they might bring par or close to it. Marketing them next spring will offer a different and more difficult problem, he believed.

Thompson said he would be inclined to favor a provision in the legislation to be enacted by an early special session of the Legislature to provide that bonds for which the bonds, including sale of the bonds at less than 95, as even that figure would mean sacrifice of $750,000 in the sale of the issue.

162,000 Missourians in War.

Figures furnished by Adjutant-General Raupp by the War Department place the number of Missourians who served in the world war at approximately 162,000. This includes men who have been in the regular army and navy for a number of years. Military authorities and the courts are said to have held that a man in the army does not lose his original residence by continued absence from it in that service. This probably would render even Gen. Pershing and Major-General Crozier, both native Missourians, eligible to receive the bonus.

Amounts to be paid to individuals will range from $10 to $250 per man, no individual may be paid more than the latter amount. Payments will be at the rate of $10 per month for the period of service between April 6, 1917, and Nov. 11, 1918.

Thompson has estimated that, a tax rate of probably 5 cents on the $100 in the beginning, scaling down after a while to 4 cents and then later to 3 cents, will suffice to pay interest and retire the bonds.

Thompson said that the suggestions made to him contemplated speedy payment of the bonus, which probably would result in issue of the entire amount required, within a year or two, instead of at intervals, as will be the case with the $60,000,000 road bonds.

FARMERS' FINANCE CORPORATION MAY NOT OPERATE IN MISSOURI

Banking Commissioner's Ruling on Grain Growers' Application Based on Seven Reasons.

By the Associated Press.

JEFFERSON CITY, Oct. 14.—The Farmers' Finance Corporation, organized by the United States Grain Growers' Association this week was refused the right to sell stock in Missouri, the State Finance Commissioner John G. Hughes. The action of Commissioner Hughes came after the application for a permit to operate in the State had been made by the concern and the organization had been investigated thoroughly, according to Commissioner

The Farmers' Finance Corporation was organized in Delaware last July, with a capital stock of more than $100,000,000, according to information received by Commissioner Hughes. The stock in the concern consists of 21 shares of common stock of $100 each and $100,000,000 in preferred stock. The application was made in Missouri for the purpose of selling the preferred stock, the money from which was to be used to "erect grain elevators and terminal facilities as a means of eliminating the middleman's commission," according to the information received by the State Department of its affairs; permit the election as

REPORTED TERMS OF BURGENLAND PACT

Hungary and Austria Said to Have Reached Agreement on Disputed Territory.

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, Oct. 14.—Complete settlement of the controversy between Austria and Hungary over the ownership of Burgenland, the strip of West Hungarian territory awarded to Austria by the Trianon treaty, appears to have been reached, according to a dispatch from Venice to the London Times, which outlines the terms of a protocol signed there yesterday.

The preliminary agreement was reached by M. Ranty, Hungarian Foreign Minister, Herr Schober, the Austrian Chancellor, and Marquis della Torretta, Italian Foreign Minister, who acted as mediator.

Marquis Torretta, says the Times dispatch, succeeded in persuading the Austrian delegation to renounce their previously held conditions unconditionally and Oedenburg, the principal city of Burgenland, will be handed over to Hungary when Burgenland has been completely cleared of Hungarian bands.

The Times' Venice correspondent says he is reliably informed that the basis of agreement consists of the following points:

1. Hungary binds herself to clear Burgenland by military means if necessary and guarantees this undertaking to the Italian Government. The military measures proposed by Hungary were discussed and accepted by the conference.

2. Austria accepts the holding of a plebiscite for Oedenburg, Rohonc and five or six small neighboring districts.

3. Should this plebiscite favor Hungary, Austria renounces absolutely her financial claims against Hungary. Should any counter claim be raised by Austria the two parties agree to put the question into the hands of an arbitrator.

MISS GEIST TELLS OF TALKS WITH LAMPERT

VIII Contest Plaintiff Testifies
Cigarmaker Said Relatives Did Not Respect Him.

Miss Sylvia Geist, 5877 Nina place, testifying yesterday in Circuit Judge Judge's court in the suit filed by her and 10 other nieces and nephews against the late Jacob Lampert, millionaire cigar manufacturer, to set aside his will, said that when she met her uncle on the street one day a year ago, he was not affable and his demeanor toward her was such as to cause her to inquire what was the matter. He answered, she said, that his sister, Mrs. Rosa Graff, 5849 Washington avenue, to whom he left the bulk of his fortune, had said she was (Miss Geist) and other nieces and nephews did not respect him. She told him I did respect him, said the witness, "but that I thought it was strange he took my cousin when she went on trips and never took me." Her sister is a daughter of Mrs. Graff. The same witness related that her uncle talked of buying a thermos lunch-box for her to carry her lunch to school, but changed his mind when Mrs. Graff said whipping was good enough. Another incident mentioned by the witness was in regard to a wrist watch she had on at a dance. She said that while waiting with her uncle he remarked that he turned the alarm-clock size with a small ornamental wrist watch his sister had made him buy for her daughter, Edith. Then he commented that in Biddle street they didn't have suchches like that," Miss Geist testified.

Counsel for the defense asked Miss Geist if she attended a performance at the Orpheum Theater on the day after her uncle's death, Feb. 19, last. She answered that she did not recall the date, but she thought it was some days after his death. She admitted she attended a dance at the Columbia Club on March 3. Dorothy Van Raalte, another niece, also was at this dance, the witness said. Mrs. Rosalind Epstein, one of the plaintiff's nieces, said that she was at her uncle's home when he was buried at the Graff home, where he lived, that her aunt's husband, H. M. Graff, would not let her see the funeral. Her uncle Jacob died that night, she said.

It is alleged in the suit that Lampert was influenced by Mrs. Graff when he made his will cutting off the plaintiffs, who are children of two of his deceased sisters. The plaintiffs also charge that she poisoned his mind against them. Lampert was a bachelor.

She answered that she did not recall the date but she thought it was some days after his death. She admitted she attended a dance at the Dornan's Club on March 2. CASES TOTALING $300,000,000
ON COURT OF CLAIMS DOCKET

Most of These Arise Out of Activities in War and Influx of Them Has Only Begun.
By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—The United States Court of Claims has reconvened with a calendar of large and important cases for the winter term. Upon the court docket there are actions involving approximately $300,000,000 arising out of the country's activities during the world war and the influx of these cases has only begun, the ultimate aggregate of such claims being estimated at between $2,000,000,000 and $3,000,000,000.

These actions are brought into the court by plaintiffs having claims against all departments of the Government—the War Department, in which claims involving approximately $8,000,000,000 have been filed; the Bureau of Internal Revenue, which has before it claims for refunds and rebates amounting to many millions; the Shipping Board where cancellations alone involve over $50,000,000 claims for patent infringement, of which $200,000,000 have already been filed in the various courts; claims made by the railroads amounting to approximately $2,250,000,000; claims proportionately large arising from the Housing Corporation, War Risk Bureau, Food

By the Associated Press.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 14.—"America cannot afford to be caught as she was caught during the last great war," said Admiral William S. Benson, United States Navy, at Discovery day exercises conducted by the Knights of Columbus here last night.

"The planes were flying so close to the ships that, during actual warfare, any one of a group of trained marine aviators on board the vessels could have picked off the pilots in the planes. It is absurd to imagine that our ships would move about unprotected and permit hostile aircraft to approach as close as the planes did during the tests."

Referring to recent bombing plane tests, conducted off the Atlantic Coast, Admiral Benson said:

MRS. CRAIG GETS $1000
VERDICT AGAINST J. A. BECKER

East Alton Woman Alleged She Went Through Marriage Ceremony Without License. A verdict for $1000 in favor of Mrs. Ada Craig, 21 years old, of East Alton, Ill., against John A. Becker, 349 Florissant Avenue, an ice dealer, was returned yesterday by a jury in Circuit Judge Taylor's court. Her suit was for $10,000. She said that Becker had forced her to marry him and that after having a marriage ceremony performed without first obtaining a license she discovered he was already married.

A marriage certificate signed by Justice of the Peace Edward Rice of the Third District was introduced in evidence. It set forth that on Dec. 1 last he had united in marriage the plaintiff and a man whose name appeared on the certificate as "Joseph Dickson," but who Mrs. Craig said was Becker. The latter denied that he was the man.

Justice Rice also denied that he had performed the ceremony. He explained that he filled out the certificate to satisfy the request of Mrs. Craig. Leo Cousins, a former soldier, testified that he and Mrs. Craig were married four years ago and so far as he knew they were not divorced. She denied she ever was married to Cousins.

POLITICS SAID TO HAMPER OFFICIALS IN MURDER INQUIRY

Killing of 12-Year-Old Madison (N. J.) Girl, for Which Boy Is Held, Far From Solution.

LITTLE BASIS FOR ARREST OF LAD, 13

Private Detective Employed by Borough Council Now Said to Think Crime That of Insane Man.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
MADISON, N. J.—Janette Lawrence, 12-year-old girl was tortured and brutally murdered near her home near here a few days ago. Frances Kluzen, 13, the son of a neighbor of the Lawrences, is held in $5000 bail, accused of the murder. There has been a steady crop of rumors about ferocious-looking maniacs being seen in the vicinity, and the prosecuting officials and the police on one side, and the Borough Council on the other, have looked horns. There is a political fight underlying this disagreement, for the Borough Council lost no time in accusing the police chief, Johnson, and Prosecutor John M. Miller, and hired private detectives to work on the case. It was on the basis of the report of these private detectives that Kluzen was arrested.

Police Chief Johnson protested against an order to make the arrest, acting Mayor Frank Gibney, head of the Borough Council, was insistent, and Johnson finally reluctantly made the arrest. When the boy was arrested, his mother and others seemed to have evidence on which to hold him. The police chief said that he had discovered nothing to connect the boy with the crime, though he had heard rumors which were being investigated. The prosecutor confessed himself as ignorant how to proceed when application was made that the boy be released on bail, which is not usual in first degree murder cases. The Borough Council opposed the motion for bail on the ground that they thought the boy ought to be held until their private detectives had been able to build up a case. In the end County Judge Parker released the boy on a $5000 bond.

The Borough Council organized a Committee of Safety and this committee created a wild furor one evening when they all piled into automobiles and went out in the country. Rumors of the capture of the murderer spread on all sides and the whole town was out to see the Law and Order Committee return with its prisoner. The prisoner was the proprietor of a roadhouse, one of whose customers complained that his woman companion had been robbed there. The committee also brought in several bottles of champagne, so the raid was not altogether a failure.

At Madison, Conn., an insane man was arrested on his own statement that he had been in the vicinity of Madison, N. J., on the day of the crime.

Now the private detectives who have been working up the case for the borough Council has adopted the position that the murderer is an insane man who is still in the vicinity of Madison and is busy circulating rumors to confuse the public.

This morning it was obvious that of some perturbed fiend. Little Janette had seven stab wounds, all superficial, but extremely painful, and one deep cut, which severed the jugular vein, causing death.

Whether there ever will be a solution of the crime unless the guilty person repeats it on another child and is caught is extremely doubtful, especially in view of the confused and rather incessant theories which seem to govern the law enforcers of Madison.

SUPPOSED MUSHROOMS KILL TWO

CLEVELAND, Oct. 14.—Two persons are dead and three others are in a critical condition today, as the result of eating what they thought to be mushrooms, Sunday night.

USE OF AIR HAMMER FACTOR IN STONE ROW

Unions Object to Machinery at Bedford That Is Said to Cause Partial Paralysis.

Use of the air hammer in cutting stone, which the cutters say, causes, in time, a partial paralysis of the hands and arms, is said by St. Louis dealers and contractors handling Bedford stone to be the chief cause of the dispute between the Indiana quarries producing Bedford stone and the Journeyman Stone Cutters' Association, a result of which was the filing here Wednesday in Federal Court of a suit asking for an injunction against the St. Louis Building Trades Council and the St. Louis local of the stone cutters' union.

The suit, as has been told, was filed on behalf of 26 Indiana stone companies and seeks to restrain the defendants from interfering with the quarrying, finishing, shipment and installation of stone from these companies in St. Louis and vicinity, it being alleged that a secondary boycott has been instituted against the plaintiff companies by the Building Trades Council. Federal Judge Faris issued an order directing the defendants to show cause on Oct. 21 why an injunction should not be granted.

Union Men Won't Finish It.

At the office of the St. Louis Contracting Co., 4425 Clayton avenue, a Post-Dispatch reporter was informed by Jerome F. P. Casey, president, and George M. O'Toole, vice president, that they have no difficulty in obtaining or installing Bedford stone, the only difficulty being that union stone cutters will not refinish or recut Bedford stone after its arrival here, because of the union strike against the producing quarries.

They explained that the Indiana companies had insisted upon the use of the air hammer for cutting, which is much faster than cutting by hand. The union cutters maintained that the constant vibration of the air hammer (which is operated by compressed air) numbed the fingers of those holding it against the stone and ultimately resulted in a form of paralysis.

This result is more pronounced, O'Toole said, when the air hammer is used upon soft stone, such as Bedford stone and Carthage stone, than when used upon granite or other hard stone. He said his company never has insisted upon the use of the air hammer under circumstances that would be harmful to the operator. All other machinery that is used at the Indiana quarries to cut and finish stone is used in St. Louis and is operated by union workers, he said. The union, he said, never objected to the use of machinery that was not harmful to health, but has insisted that the operators be union men.

Bedford Stone Obtainable.

O'Toole and other contractors stated that St. Louis builders never have been required to use inferior stone because of the Indiana strike. They said Bedford stone always has been obtainable and that Carthage stone, which is preferred by some builders, is available.

Walter W. Sawyer of Indianapolis, president of the International Cut Stone Contractors and Quarreymen's Association, stated to a Post-Dispatch correspondent in Indianapolis that labor leaders sought to curb production by the elimination of the air hammer. He also asserted that the union attempted to dictate the classification of employees.

The plaintiffs in the suit filed here maintain that the members of the Building Trades Council have refused to handle Bedford stone, although their own unions are not directly involved, thus setting up a secondary boycott. The United States Supreme Court, in a decision last winter in the case of the Duplex Printing Press Co., held that the secondary boycott was not legal.

LABOR URGED TO ADOPT PRACTICAL POLITICAL METHODS

Board's Report Points Out That Labor Has Contributed to Defeat of Its Two Best Friends.

CHICAGO, Oct. 14.—Political methods "more practical and sensible" are urged upon organized labor of Illinois by the Joint Labor-Legislative Board of Illinois in its report on legislation to the Illinois State Federation of Labor. The report, published here today prior to convening of the State Federation at Aurora next Monday.

The report points out that labor had itself contributed unwittingly to the defeat of two of its best friends for the last legislature.

This came about through labor staying out of the primaries in these instances so as to help make valid petitions of the Farmer Labor party, a political party recently launched largely through efforts of organized labor in this State. Without support from labor, these two legislative friends of labor were defeated, the report said.

The Many-Sidedness of The DUO-ART

The Duo-Art Reproducing Piano does many things—does them all perfectly.

The most marvelous and astonishing thing it does is to reproduce the actual playing of the present-day master pianists. Paderewski, Hofmann and dozens of others have entrusted their playing to the Duo-Art and to the Duo-Art alone.

By means of these reproductions the Duo-Art brings you the most wonderful music in the world.

But it can also give you reproductions of a lighter sort—dance music, if you wish, played by pianists of dazzling skill.

You can use the Duo-Art to play any standard 88-note player roll, and you can put a surprisingly wide range of expression into such playing.

And finally the Duo-Art is a piano—perfect in tone and action, awaiting the touch of anyone who can play.

Small wonder that in every home where the Duo-Art dwells, it is the family's most cherished possession.

Curling Hair Like This

Promotes Its Health

For those whose hair is straight and lack luster, this method is recommended than the silkworm method. This insures a beautiful curliness which is perfectly natural in appearance, and the health of the hair is not affected as when the heated iron is used.

A few drops of liquid ammonia which comes from the drug store lasts a long time, so it is quite economical to use. It is pleasant to use, too, being neither sticky nor greasy, and is easily washed with a clean tooth brush.

The hair may be moistened the full length

WOMAN INDICTED FOR AUTO FATALITY

Mrs. Vera Irwin Charged With Manslaughter—Sheahan Says
He Was Not in Her Car.

Mrs. Vera Irwin, 21 years old, of 728 North Tenth street, East St. Louis, is charged with manslaughter in an indictment returned yesterday afternoon in connection with the case of Mrs. Hallie Lee Armstrong of 7214 Dale avenue, Richmond Heights, who was killed at 1:15 a.m., Sept. 29, at Euclid avenue and Lindell boulevard, in a collision between a yellow taxicab in which she was a passenger and an automobile driven by Mrs. Irwin.

John J. (Duke) Sheahan of 917 North Newstead avenue, son of former Police Commissioner John Sheahan, was a witness before the grand jury. He declined to discuss the case with newspaper reporters but, before entering the grand jury room, in response to a question, he informed Assistant Circuit Attorney Ossing that he was not in Mrs. Irwin's automobile. He told Ossing that he was at the corner waiting for a street car at the time of the accident.

Mrs. Irwin is at liberty under a $2500 bond, which is returnable in the Court of Criminal Correction next Friday.

HENRY S. CLEMENT, FOUNDER OF LINDELL HOTEL HERE, DIES

CIVIL WAR VETERAN AND AID TO SHERMAN AND ROSECRANS, SUC-
CEDED BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—Henry Clement, Lieutenant-Colonel of Volunteers during the Civil War and aid to Generals Sherman and Rosecrans, died yesterday at the home of his son, after an illness of more than a year. He was 80 years old and a pioneer hotel owner of Saratoga Springs, New York and St. Louis. He was born in Cincinnati, O., and was the son of the builder and president of several Western railroads.

At the outbreak of the Civil War he recruited the first company of the Twelfth Ohio Regiment and went to the front as a private. In the first 70,000 volunteers called out by President Lincoln. Later he commanded the Seventy-ninth Ohio Regiment and participated in Sherman's march to the sea. During the war he was commanded by three future Presidents—Hays, Garfield and Harrison—and at one time commanded the unit of which McKinley was a member.

After the war Col. Clement acquired the Congress Hall Hotel in Saratoga Springs, N. Y., and some years later opened the Lindell Hotel in St. Louis, Mo., to which Gen. Sherman transferred his headquarters as Commanding General of the army. He was a member of the New York Legislature in 1883 and 1894.

Mrs. Clement, a granddaughter of Col. Clement, was a member of the State Assembly, a candidate for State Assembly and a delegate to the National Convention.

BRADSHAW DENIES STATE HAS CLAIM TO $13,167.31

Defrayed by Grain Men and Not State.

Reported to the Post-Dispatch
KANSAS CITY, Oct. 14.—James T. Bradshaw, former Grain and Warehouse Commissioner of Missouri, denies that the State has a just claim to $13,167.31 paid out of the private inspection fund by him while in office, in a letter to John W. Barrett, Attorney-General.

The Attorney-General had requested Bradshaw to reimburse the State of $55 honorary degrees marked the one hundredth anniversary yesterday of McGill University as an explanation of that amount with a request to receive the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws, was Baron Byng, Governor-General of Canada.

tion fund. Bradshaw's letter says: "You may not be aware of the fact that not a dollar of this money comes from the State Treasury. The service rendered by the private inspection and weighing department was highly necessary to the grain interests of this State, but for which no payment would have been made by law. The expense was defrayed by the grain men of Missouri, who were not afforded weighing and inspection service under the law, as it then stood."

Baron Byng Got Degree.

MONTREAL, Oct. 14.—Conferring of 55 honorary degrees marked the one hundredth anniversary yesterday of McGill University as an educational institution. Plaintiff Takes Involuntary Nonsuit After Judge Announces He Will Order Verdict for Defendant.

COURT HOLDS NO MALICE WAS SHOWN

Says Publication in Post-Dispatch of Account of Toronto Man's Arrest Here in 1917 Was Privileged.

The suit of Alexander P. Macauley of Toronto, Canada, against the Pulitzer Publishing Co. (Post-Dispatch) for $200,000 damages on account of the publication of Macauley's arrest in St. Louis, Jan. 3, 1917, suspected of forgery, was taken from the jury by Circuit Judge Falkenhainer today, after all the testimony was in, and a peremptory instruction was given for a verdict for the defendant.

After the Judge had informed counsel of his decision and before the instruction was read to the jury, the plaintiff took an involuntary nonsuit.

The Judge's decision was on the ground that the publication was privileged and that no malice had been shown. On taking the bench he said to the jury: "Because of the fact of the Court construing the law along certain lines, the plaintiff, notwithstanding elects to take an involuntary nonsuit. The case is therefore taken from your consideration."

Under an involuntary nonsuit the plaintiff has the privilege of refiling the suit within one year.

Testimony for the defense was finished before noon yesterday. The remainder of the day was used for the presentation of the plaintiff's rebuttal.

Vincent Fleury, testifying for the defense, in his deposition told of a row in which Macauley participated in a hotel bar at Cobalt, Canada, in 1910 or 1911. Macauley, the witness said, struck a young fellow and Brownlee, the bartender, turned him two or three "sovereigns." Macauley went and got his gun, Fleury said, and went back looking for Brownlee. "I guess," the witness added, "that if he had caught Brownlee in the bar there would have been no more Macauley. But he couldn't find Brownlee. He was carrying on with that gun and, of course, the people around the bar got kind of scared and telephoned for Coldrick and McKay. They came in and arrested him and put him in the coop." People around there did not give Macauley a very good name, the witness said.

Particulars of Arrest.
Coldrick was the Police Inspector and McKay was John McDonald McKay, a prominent Cobaltable. Particulars of the arrest were given in McKay's deposition. It was on St. Patrick's day, 1910, McKay said. Macauley was arguing with a man behind the bar when McKay and the Inspector entered. The Inspector spoke to him and he struck or pushed Coldrick and drew a gun partly from his pocket. Coldrick knocked his feet from under him and as he fell the weapon dropped out of his pocket.

Mckay kicked it into the corner and then subdued Macauley and hauled him out. He was tried the next day and fined $50 and put under a peace bond for a year. Macauley's reputation, the witness said, was anything but good.

The revolver, a 41-caliber Colt with a six-inch barrel, was introduced in evidence.

H. S. Browning, proprietor of a mining publication, told of Macauley representing the publication of an article about "wildcatting" in the Tammany Reserve, and threatening suit, although he was not named in the article.

The plaintiff, in rebuttal, introduced considerable alibi testimony given by guests and employees of the Hamilton Hotel, which was intended to offset the testimony of officers and employees of the Famous and Barr Co. and the Grand-Leader, who had identified Macauley as the man who presented forged traveler's checks at those stores.

All Witnesses Heard.

The alibi witnesses were Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Stroud, Theodore H. Miller and Mrs. Calvin Miller, Mrs. M. W. Huette and Mr. and Mrs. John F. Linn, guests; E. Blakemore, clerk; Miss Rose Krause, telephone operator; Arthur Johnson, head waiter, and William McKinley Edmunds, elevator conductor. Their testimony was that Macauley was at dinner at the Hamilton at about the time on Dec. 20, 1916, that according to the testimony of the department store people, he was presenting forged checks at the two stores.

The cross-examination tested the recollections of the witnesses as to other times that they had seen Macauley. Most of them were unable to remember having seen him at other specified times.

Attorney Green objected to the alibi testimony on the ground that the guilt or innocence of Macauley was not in issue, the defense being that the prosecution complained of had merely presented the facts of his arrest, the charge against him and the identification, but Judge Falkenhainer permitted it to go in.

James P. Watson, a Toronto mining man, in his deposition, stated that Macauley had been employed by

WEEKS APPOINTS BOARD TO PLAN REORGANIZATION OF ARMY

Body of Staff Officers Instructed to Recommend Scheme That Will Further Civilians' Training.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—A partial if not a complete reorganization of the regular army, resulting in relocation of commands throughout the country probably will result from steps taken today by Secretary Weeks to assist further in the training and insuring of the National Guard, organized reserves, reserve officers' training corps, and other organizations at military training camps.

The Secretary today appointed a board of officers consisting of Cols. W. E. Welsh, Alfred A. Starbird and Stanley H. Ford, and Lieutenant-Colonel J. W. Grossinger, all of the general staff, and ordered it to recommend a plan "for such an organization and distribution of the authorized strength of the regular army as will enable it to give the greatest assistance possible" in the training and instruction of all elements of the army of the United States.

The board was directed to investigate thoroughly all existing facilities available for training purposes, with a view to their possible use under new plans of training and organization. In considering the question of housing accommodations, the board was directed to include among its recommendations those areas suitable of existing areas for the field training of all branches of the military establishment. The board is to be guided principally by convenience of location of training centers to federalized reserves, centers of popularized reserves, centers of population, as well as the advantages in training facilities possessed by the Federal Government in land already owned.

Major-General Harbord, acting chief of staff, made it clear to members of the board that their task was one of "very great importance, especially in view of the increased obligations imposed by Congress upon the regular army to assist in the training of all components of the army of the United States, as well as civilians."

CAPT. AMUNDSEN'S SHIP BEING OVERHAULED FOR ARCTIC TRIP

By the Associated Press.
SEATTLE, Wash., Oct. 13.—The staunch little exploring ship Maud, in which Capt. Roald Amundsen made the Northeast Passage from Norway to Cape Serdze, Siberia, has been moored temporarily in the fresh waters of Lake Union here. The Maud was towed from Puget Sound through the Government canal to Lake Union after she had been overhauled in drydock where a lost propeller was replaced.

The sturdy craft will remain in the landlocked haven, ridding herself of barnacles until early next spring, when Capt. Amundsen expects to renew his attempt to drift past the ice belt with the Arctic ice, once interrupted last year by the loss of the Maud's propeller.

In the meantime, Capt. Amundsen has announced he will make a brief visit to Norway, his home.

UNION ORGANIZER DRIVEN OUT

By the Associated Press.
SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Oct. 14.—Ferocious expulsion by a deputation of citizens of Charles Inman, organizer at Rosedale for the International Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers' Union, has been reported to Gov. Small by Ed Carbine, another organizer, it became known today.

Carbine called on the Governor to ask for intervention, declaring Inman was a peaceable citizen and in pursuit of his constitutional rights.

his firm, that he was known to practically all of the prominent mining people, and that his reputation for honesty and integrity was very good.

Frank L. Culver, president of a Toronto mining company, deposed that he had never heard anybody say anything against Macauley; that his reputation for honesty and integrity, truth and veracity was good and that his business methods were clean and straightforward in every way.

George O. Merson of Toronto deposed that Macauley's reputation for honesty and integrity was very high and that he was absolutely honest and truthful.

Henry Norman Kitchen and Louis West of Toronto gave depositions to the same effect.

Macauley Again Takes Stand.

Macauley again took the stand and denied having told T. E. Albright that he had been arrested for striking Mike Howard in a saloon at Eighth and Olive streets, and denied that he had ever been arrested here. He also denied that he had given Albright a check in payment for lottery tickets. He denied telling Percy Ryan that he had probed the mining claims which he had sold to Ryan, denied that when he was arrested he was told that it was for passing bogus checks and denied that he ever knew Attorney Charles F. Krome or had ever been in his office.

Attorney Fenn asked him if he had ever been in the place of business of this foreigner, Albright? (referring to H. S. Albrecht of 3763 Westminster place, who had testified that he informed the authorities that Macauley and associates were conducting a lottery). Attorney Green objected to Albright being called a foreigner. Fenn said Albrecht could hardly speak English. Judge Falkenhainer ordered the word stricken from the record. Macauley denied having been in Albrecht's place of business.

THE POST-DISPATCH PLAT-FORM.

I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles, that it will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight demagogues of all parties, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare, never be satisfied with the status quo, always be drastically independent; never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

JOSEPH PULITZER,

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

A Permanent Pageant Association
To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I WITNESSED the performance of "Missouri 100 Years Ago," by Thomas Wood Stevens, last night, and was deeply impressed with the progress of the dramatic art displayed on this occasion by the men and women of St. Louis who were associated with the St. Louis Pageant and Musique of 1914 and the Patriotic Pageant of 1917.

William W. La Beaume's efforts are mainly responsible for the production of the Missouri Centennial Pageant which is now in progress at the Coliseum. For years he interested himself in the development of the dramatic art in this community. He was the organizer and for a number of years the leader of the dramatic section of the City Club known as "The Snappers." With the production of the present pageant, worthy of the great event which it commemorates, William W. La Beaume puts himself in the forefront of communal dramatic art. In this work he is ably supported by one of our mainstays in civic affairs, John H. Gundlach.

Under the spell of the presentation of the "Spirit of Missouri" by Mrs. George Geilhorn, which rose to classic heights, a vision appeared before my spiritual eye of a higher task in dramatic art for the men and women of St. Louis who were acting on the Coliseum stage. Why should we not undertake a production of Sophocles' "Oedipus" and Euripides' "Sophocles" adapted to the modern stage?

I wish to suggest to William W. La Beaume and his associates the transformation of the St. Louis Missouri Centennial Association into a permanent St. Louis Pageant and Music Association, which shall have charge of festivals to be held in a favorable season of the year, as, for instance, May, at our Municipal Theater. The program for May festivals should include the production of classic drama alternating annually with musical fests, such as (latter) have been produced for years in other cities, as Cincinnati.

The biennial production of classic drama will permit of a more perfect presentation of drama than an incidental production that cannot have more than two or three months' preparation. The production of Greek classic drama will instill love and admiration for the pure dramatic art in the people of St. Louis. The music section of the annual festival will have to take place every other year, alternating with the drama; this will permit of developing and perfecting of massed chorus singing for which we had an excellent foundation in the St. Louis Pageant Choral Society and Hugo Anschuetz's mass chorus, which gave so excellent account of itself at the Coliseum last May. Our Symphony Orchestra could be augmented on this occasion to double its present size by drawing the best musicians from the symphony orchestras in other cities.

The St. Louis Pageant and Music Association will comprise all present organizations interested in the promotion of music and drama, such as: St. Louis Symphony Society, Municipal Opera Association, Civic Music Association, St. Louis Pageant Choral Society, St. Louis Art League, Hugo Anschuetz's Chorus, Artists' Guild, Junior Players, etc. A number of civic organizations like the City Club, Town Club, Junior Chamber of Commerce and other public-minded organization and clubs, who are grouped around churches and community centers must be included to make the Pageant and Music Association a great communal factor.

The efforts of such a powerful organization directed to the promotion of the esthetic culture of the community cannot fail to make St. Louis one of the greatest cultural centers of this country. Its effect upon the citizenship may be judged from the past experience; good fellowship, lasting friendship and the spirit of team work were among those important results that can still be felt in these days when the first "call to arms" met with such ready response, as the executive officers of the Missouri Centennial Pageant are proud to testify.

I submit this idea to the men and women who undertook the St. Louis Missouri Centennial Pageant and urge speedy action in the interest of the plan. May the St. Louis Pageant and Music Association be a fitting monument to the efforts of the pioneers in this phase of community life. Let us once more "work and play together!"

Fare Paying Made Easy.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I WAS in a crowd that boarded a La-clad car Sunday, which was running on the Market line, at Forest Park where there is a sign that reads "To Zoo." The car was to turn at Tamm avenue, just a block west. Several passengers wanted to go around the block loop to avoid the crowd. The conductor refused to open the door. After a conference with the motorman the conductor shouted, "You people will have to pay twice fares if you want to ride around the corner a distance of one block." Then the conductor refused to let the passengers deposit fares in the fare box but announced he would collect the fares. And the doors were kept closed until he did collect the fares.

The United Railways is certainly giving service. You don't have to move

PUBLICITY WINS.

A substantial victory for publicity at the disarmament conference was won at the first meeting of the American delegation at Washington Wednesday. All of the delegates were present—Secretary Hughes, Mr. Root, Senator Lodge and Senator Underwood—and a discussion of more than three hours in Mr. Hughes' office was continued at a night session following a dinner at the White House, where President Harding submitted his views.

EMERGENCY RELIEF PLANS.

The $100,000 agreed upon by the Board of Estimate and Apportionment and the Mayor's Unemployment Committee as an immediate emergency fund to be appropriated for the purpose of supplying city work to those in distress, is not a large sum. If the estimates of the number of unemployed in St. Louis are nearly correct it is a small sum, but it will serve a useful purpose; it will test the actual distress existing in the city. The number of men applying for work at $2 a day will show how widespread is the distress in St. Louis on account of unemployment.

It never was intended by proponents of publicity that delegates should constantly be shadowed by reporters or that the press should have keys to the doors of all the committee rooms or informal debates. That notion of tyrannical publicity, or, rather, espionage, existed only in the cerebrations of Senator Lodge. What was wanted was proper representation of the press as the representative of the public, so that the press could keep the public informed as to the general progress of the conference, report promptly upon important decisions as soon as made and enlighten the public as to the identity of the delegates that fought for and obstructed the true objectives of the parliament.

With the press in attendance at the full sessions the public may be reasonably certain of knowing who was who and what was what at the conference. The men who will report this convention will be extraordinarily equipped. They will have a pretty accurate measure of the men who have been chosen to share in this unprecedented opportunity for world service.

They will bring to their work a profound and comprehensive knowledge of international questions and long familiarity with both the strategy and tactics of parliamentary fighting. Their training will enable them to detect the genesis of proposals and counter proposals and the real purport of the resolutions adopted or rejected.

We shall have real publicity if the American delegation's plan of admitting the press to the full sessions of the conference is approved by the conference as a whole. And we may be fairly confident that that plan will be approved.

SENATORIAL MORALS.

The Senate's irreconcilables who fought the covenant of the League of Nations found Article X impossible objectionable. Delving down into the phraseology of that provision they discovered a moral obligation which would require us to send our young men to any battle front that might bristle up anywhere on the map. It was admitted there was no legal obligation, but to the United States, jealous of its honor, a moral obligation, we were belligerently informed, was just as binding as if nominated in the new Constitution.

Yet most of those irreconcilables, including Senator Borah, have voted for the Borah bill frankly repudiating a treaty we entered into with England by which we agreed that the Panama Canal would be open to the use of all nations on equal terms. That was not a moral obligation. It was, and is, an explicitly stated obligation. And how can our irreconcilable Senators reconcile their present cynical disregard for the country's pledged word with their almost Quixotic gallantry of yesterday?

In the matter of foreign relations our irreconcilable Senators seem to have a double standard of morals.

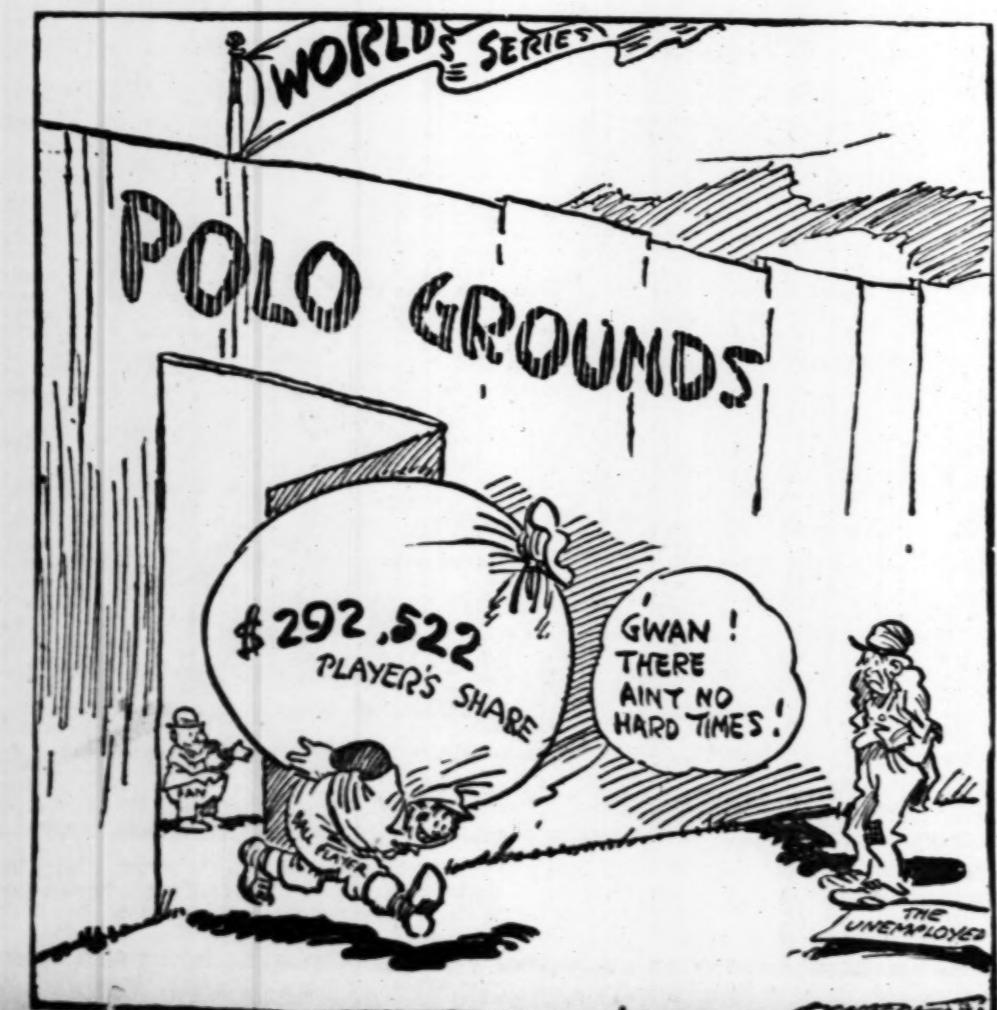

TO PREVENT VANDALISM.

The protest against the desecration of the Wimber paintings in the Courthouse dome seemingly has availed nothing. The Commissioner of Public Safety, Mr. McElveen, has laid off his commercial artist. The work of modern interior decoration has stopped. The panels which have been "retouched" can be restored, it is said. The allegorical pictures, fortunately, had not been subjected to the commercial brush, and real artists will be given the task of doing for those old depictions what may be done in reverence and humility.

The whole experience has been shocking. Unwittingly, of course, Commissioner McElveen has been party to an act of vandalism which might have resulted in irreparable loss to St. Louis. Surely the destruction of Carl Wimber's priceless works would be so accounted. We must see to it that nothing like this occurs again.

Our possessions of historic or artistic value must be protected against thoughtlessness. Our Municipal Art Commission, at present a merely advisory body, should have authority to guard the city's treasures. Other cities—some of them from unhappy experience—have vested in their art commissions the powers necessary to prevent just such a costly blunder as was almost perpetrated here. That is the kind of art commission St. Louis should have.

If the voters who have recently voted down most of a large bond issue program are to be asked again to vote for a bond issue to relieve the unemployed during the winter the program should be limited to that.

The question of voting bonds should not be complicated. It should involve only the question of relieving distress through city work.

The two questions to be decided are what ought and can be done now and what projects will employ the greatest number of workmen.

It is a great temptation to use the need of emergency funds to relieve distress on account of unemployment as an excuse for putting through a large program of public improvements, but doing this might prevent the success of the bond issue. The voters should be treated with candor and sincerity. The bond issue program should be decided upon solely with the relief of unemployment as its object. It ought to include only necessary public works and only those improvements which require labor and will thus meet the emergency need.

Woman Asks Harding What "Something Practicable" in Limit on Armament Means

Speaker on Subject Writes to President Again, Saying She Wants Definite Expression.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—Another chapter of the correspondence between President Harding and "Miss Ella L. Freed," concerning the coming conference on limitation of armament was made public today by "Miss Freed," who added that the President misread her name, which really is Mrs. Ella L. Freed.

The President made public on Wednesday a letter in response to one from her, in which he gave his extended outline of what he hoped to see achieved at the conference.

Mrs. Freed said she had written a reply urging him to propose a reduction by one-half, present armament.

"I told you what you meant by reasonable limitation. You say you mean 'something practicable.' That exactly the same thing you said before in other words. Synonyms are not definitions."

"Permit me to ask you whether we consider a reduction of the world's military burdens by one-half reasonable or practicable? If every one of the nations at the conference agrees to reduce its armament one-half, their relative strength would remain as great as before. That is clear, I hope.

"Then why not suggest one-half reduction? When that has been done, the women of the world will furnish you further suggestions as to what is reasonable and practicable."

Mrs. Freed, 23 years old, lives in Pittsburgh. She has been serving as speaker for the Citizens' Disarmament Committee.

"The Words," Says London Times; British Navy League Gives Views.

London, Oct. 14.—The London Times in an editorial this morning designates as "the wise words of a practical statesman." President Harding's statement that what he wants through the Washington conference is "something practicable" repeating also his assertion that the desirability of universal disarmament at this time will be questioned.

"We cannot do them," adds the Times, to the "meditation of all who fancy that this impudent world cannot be effectively policed unless the German continues to carry the big stick."

The newspaper declares that it is encouraging that America "does not aim at Utopian ideals such as appear to be suggested in the curious, incomprehensible manifesto from the British Navy League, which it publishes in another column. This manifesto was submitted to the Times by officials of the Navy League, as memorandum adopted by the organization's Executive Committee. The memorandum, discussing the Washington conference, says:

"The principal problem, the limitation of naval armaments, treated purely as a material one, does not seem possible of satisfactory solution at this time. For we are forced to the conclusion that it is not a material problem at all, but a moral one."

It then proceeds to emphasize that science may so alter the ship of to-day as to change completely the relative international positions, according to the ingenuity of the various nations' inventors, "though the nations kept strictly to the letter of the agreement." It asserts that it is also impossible to assign a mathematical factor of strength to any ship.

It is in the exercise of power that most of the difficulty lies, adds the memorandum, which advocates that the sea be regarded as "a field for almost unlimited service" rather than with a view to "the possibility of exercising the greatest power in the world."

$100,000 TO BE PROVIDED BY CITY FOR $2 A DAY JOBS

Nolte Agrees to Appropriation to Be Expended for Work Designated by Unemployment Committee.

SURPLUS IN CITY FUNDS IS EXPECTED

Several Members of Committee Oppose Bond Issue Until Wage Scale for City Work Comes Down.

Comptroller Nolte yesterday agreed to allow the Mayor's Committee on Unemployment a fund of $100,000 to be used in giving employment to idle men at $2 a day. It was estimated that this sum would permit the employment of 500 men for six months on work to be designated by the committee from recommendations of heads of city departments.

The plan will be recommended by the Finance Committee of the Mayor's Committee to the committee as a whole on Monday. It likely will be accepted by the general committee. It then remains necessary for the Board of Aldermen to pass an ordinance legalizing the appropriation. President Aloe of the board promised to urge favorable action. The ordinance could be passed as an emergency measure in meetings of the board on three successive days.

Surplus is Expected.

The agreement between Comptroller Nolte and the Finance Committee was based upon a statement prepared by the Comptroller showing that anticipated revenue of the city for the fiscal year likely would exceed appropriations by approximately $111,000, thus making it possible for the city at this time to borrow that sum.

Comptroller Nolte's report also showed that it was probable that $280,000 of appropriations already made would not be expended and would revert to the treasury at the end of the year. The Comptroller said that this figure anticipated that the Police Department would turn back $200,000, but that he understood the department was considering building a garage which would wipe out this sum.

If China continues adamant, it was said, Presidents Harding may be asked to mediate in the controversy.

Japan, it is understood, would be willing to abide by President Harding's decision, and is ready to adopt a conciliatory attitude. Japanese officials give the impression that Japan is anxious to enter the Washington conference, in such a way as to avoid causing quarrels at the start, believing that any other attitude would tend to retard and render more difficult an agreement upon the limitation of armaments.

Desire for Lower Wages.

The proposal for a bond issue was discussed but no recommendation of the committee determined. James W. Byrnes said that he was opposed to a bond issue at the present scale of wages which must be paid for city work. A. L. Shapleigh said he was unwilling to decide upon a bond issue without further reflection.

"We've got $100,000 now," Comptroller Nolte replied. "Let's use that to see how many men are in such distress that they are willing to work for $2 a day. If there is unemployment entailing actual hardship, this fund of $100,000 will bring it out and we can then determine whether to spend the additional $200,000." The members of the committee agreed to this suggestion.

WAR SERVICE ADDS POINTS FOR POSTMASTERSHIP APPLICANTS

President Orders That Former Soldiers Be Given Preferential Consideration.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—A fixed policy giving preferential consideration to postmastership applicants, who are veterans of the World War, was inaugurated by President Harding today by executive order.

The Civil Service Commission directed by the order to add five points to the examination rating of every prospective postmaster who had been in the Government service during the war. In addition the President ordered that age limitations be waived in such cases and that the period of service during the war be reckoned as a part of the required length of business experience.

DEMAND FOR WINE INCREASING

France Exported 340,000 Quarts to U.S. in Six Months.

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, Oct. 14.—French champagne and other fine wines are increasing in demand in the United States "for medicinal purposes." Over 340,000 quarts, valued at 1,502,000 francs, were exported to America during the first six months of this year, according to figures published by the Minister of Commerce.

During the corresponding period in 1920, only 121,000 quarts, valued at 606,000 francs, were shipped to America. This liquor is all imported into America under licenses granted by the "Prohibition Enforcement Commissioner," French statistics say.

similar production. The initial experiments have proved so successful that plans for the process on a large scale are afoot.

It is estimated that the 9000 tons of dry soil made available each year should produce 150,000 cubic feet of gas. This, in turn, would supply a day of 10 hours.

Labor, taxes and other incidental expenses are not taken into account.

production of power gas; and the English

Birmingham is now experimenting with a similar production. The initial experiments have proved so successful that plans for the process on a large scale are afoot.

WOODS IS PRESENTED TO KING
Gorgeous State Coaches With Footmen in Red Livery Take Ambassador to See Alfonso.
By the Associated Press.

MADRID, Oct. 14.—Cyrus E. Woods, recently appointed United States Ambassador to Spain, presented his credentials to King Alfonso in the Royal Palace at noon today. The chief of the protocol arrived at the new American Embassy shortly before with four gorgeous state coaches, each drawn by six horses and accompanied by footmen dressed in red livery. In these coaches Woods, accompanied by Jefferson Caffey, Consul of the American Embassy; James Clement Dunn, third secretary, and Charles P. Cunningham, commercial attache, was conducted to the palace.

The quaint old world ceremony of introduction ensued after Woods read his speech of presentation to King Alfonso.

Woods, after explaining that he had been directed by President Harding to deliver letters of recall to Joseph E. Willard, the retiring ambassador, and to announce his own nomination to fill the post, continued:

"The President personally requested me to express to your majesty his most cordial sentiments of esteem and friendship. I personally take great pride in being accredited to your majesty's court.

Spain has established a world's record in achievements. She has brought a nation of great discoveries.

Her sons have gone forth conquering, colonizing, civilization.

The Western Hemisphere owes its discovery to your Majesty's ancestors and the language you speak is the dominating language of the Western world."

BRITISH PLANS FOR TRADING
WITH RUSSIA BREAK DOWNChancellor of Exchequer in Address Says This Is Result of Famine and Acts of Soviet Extremists.

By the Associated Press.

GLASGOW, Scotland, Oct. 13.—British plans for trading with Russia have been defeated. It was declared by Sir Robert Stevenson Horne, Chancellor of the Exchequer, in an address here last night. He said that this was partly the result of the Russian famine, and could be attributed in some measure to the fact that the Russian Bolsheviks had been

"more anxious to spend their gold in propaganda than in buying goods."

Sir Robert disclaimed lack of sympathy for Russia, and asserted he had tested the loyalty of some of his friends by concluding the trade agreement with the Soviet Government. He added he was prepared to defend that agreement, because he believed the world would never recover until Russia was again producing grain, and also because he believed the best way to break down

bolhevism would be to penetrate

Russia with "honest commercial methods."

"Nothing can be gained by sending goods to Russia," he went on,

if it is perfectly certain the Russians have nothing to give in exchange. While they may have accumulated stocks, they have no means of transportation. Sending goods to Russia at present would mean making gifts of them, and Great Britain is not in a position to make presents to anyone."

MANTELL, IN "HAMLET,"

PERFORMS IMPRESSIVELY

Supporting Cast Falls to Add

Strength in Production of Tragedy.

Robert Mantell, in "Hamlet," last night at the American Theater, sustained throughout the Shakespearean tragedy a strong and virile acting of the part of the agonized

Prince. If the other actors had measurably approached Mantell, the performances would have become majestically impressive, but this was not so, and it appeared that

Mantell himself did not reach the heights of which he is capable, because of the lack of sympathetic support.

Parts of the play, however, gave full measure of gratification to an audience that nearly filled the theater, for, at times, the character of Hamlet asserted itself irresistibly.

This was especially true of the big room scene, where Hamlet had the wandering players re-enact,

before his Queen mother and the King, the scene of his father's murder.

$50,000 Loan to Argentine.
By the Associated Press.
BUENOS AIRES, Oct. 14.—Reports that the Argentine Government had concluded arrangements for another loan of $50,000,000 with J. P. Morgan & Co. of New York were published by newspapers here today. Confirmation of the report has not been received from official quarters.

UNEMPLOYMENT IN ILLINOIS DECREASES

Corn Huskers in Demand in Some Sections and Mining Conditions Improve.

By the Associated Press.
SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Oct. 14.—Unemployment is shown to be decreasing in a number of the more important cities of Illinois, outside of Chicago, with several reporting conditions approaching normal in returns from a survey received today.

Construction work is declared in full swing at several points.

"Labor conditions in Illinois generally are much brighter than they have been," George B. Arnold, director of the State Department of Labor, said.

In Springfield, however, the forecast is not optimistic. There were still 8000 workers idle, and while re-opening of three coal mines gave work to 1200 men, 1900 others were put on half time by the curtailment of production in a single factory. There still are between 2000 and 3000 miners idle here.

The number of idle in Joliet has been reduced to 2000 during the last year, though there are still 3000 idle in the city. Expansion of factory activities is said to be absorbing the unemployed more rapidly.

Danville, Decatur and Peoria report better conditions than a year ago and the Danville Free Employment Bureau announces that its average of 161 applicants for every 100 jobs is the most favorable in the State. Decatur's problem is ascribed to "floaters." Peoria has enough public works under construction supplementing factory work, to reduce idleness 40 per cent in 30 days and expects another 10 per cent reduction in the next month.

Other smaller regular workers in Quincy are out of work but steps are being taken to provide civic work for them. Sterling and Rock Falls report the worst conditions in years.

In all these cities there is a demand for farm help and at Bloomington the employment office cannot supply the demand for carpenters. Bloomington reports a surplus of common labor and clerical help.

So many factories in Moline are not running that the Welfare Bureau is calling for $50,000 to help the town's destitute during the winter.

Farmers around Galesburg find that the problem there is reversed, and the railroad shops and public construction have absorbed so many of the unemployed, that corn huskers are able to demand war time wages.

Egypt's Negotiations for 'Home Rule' Cause Speculation

Americans Do Not Relish Thought of Possible Cession of British Protection Over Interests There.

By the Associated Press.
ALEXANDRIA, Egypt, Sept. 15.—Foreign business men in Egypt are suffering somewhat sleepless nights of late as a result of the uncertainty surrounding the negotiations now taking place in London between the British Foreign Office and the Egyptian delegation headed by Adly Yeghen Pasha, the Prime Minister, a body opposed by the Nationalists and led by Saad Zaghloul Pasha, a strong advocate of "home rule."

American and other foreign commercial, banking and shipping firms are watching developments closely and, while they sympathize it is said, with the aspirations of the Egyptians for self-government, they do not relish the thought of the possible cessation of courts applying European law which, in the past, has meant security for their business and protection for their families.

All Americans in Egypt at present enjoy freedom from taxation, the right to be tried in criminal cases by the American Consular Courts and recourse in civil actions to the International Mixed Courts in which America is represented by three American judges. While the American colony in Egypt is small and takes no active part or interest in local politics, it does not agree that the Washington Government relinquishes any of the rights and privileges its members now enjoy.

There are two parties among the Egyptians: The Nationalists, headed by Saad Zaghloul, for three years now the leader of the masses, and the Government or Moderate party, led by Adly Yeghen. Zaghloul conducted the first negotiations with Lord Milner's Commission. The Foreign Office in London has insisted that the Milner project, which guaranteed certain rights of self-government be embodied in a treaty agreed upon by the British and Egyptian governments.

TWO SLAIN IN BOOTLEGGER'S WAR

Man New York Police Say Assassins Fortune Killed.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—A double killing within pistol shot of police headquarters was added yesterday to the long list of violent deaths in the Lower East Side's bootleggers' war.

Joseph Veserti, alias Joe Pippa, who the police said had amassed a fortune, ventured forth in his motor car without his $100 a week bodyguard and as he entered a Broome street cafe was riddled with bullets. Dying, he returned the fire, one of the shots killing Louis Rango, who was reading a newspaper at a table in the cafe and having his shoes shined.

The shooting brought a swarm of detectives out of police headquarters but the assassins had vanished.

BLIND FRENCH YOUTH
STUDENT AT HARVARDFormer Soldier Wins Fellowship in Law School in Competition With 100 Others.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 14.—Guy Envin, 26, a blinded French private, is now in the Harvard law school as Victor E. Chapman fellow, a scholarship founded by John Jay Chapman of New York in memory of his son, who was killed at Verdun. Envin has some interesting ideas about America and Americans, and is inclined to believe that the United States and Japan will become embroiled within 10 years.

At 19 Envin enlisted and saw service in the battles of the Marne, Aisne and Champaign, his regiment being cut down to a remnant of only six men in the latter battle; it was here he lost his sight while carrying dispatches, receiving three wounds, besides a crushed skull and both ear drums broken.

Sightless, half deaf, some of his folks killed and his parents under German control in northern France, Envin immediately on his discharge from active service learned Braille, typewriting and shorthand, studies law, took two degrees, became a lawyer, went to England, where he mastered the English language, and won the Chapman fellowship in competition with 100 other French soldiers.

In his six years of blindness Envin has found himself. From a careless, lazy youth he has educated himself, has vision, ambition and poetic inspiration. His first book of poems, "Poems of Sorrow," he is now translating into English and hopes to publish them to swell his meager income. He had a $400 pension and the $1200 scholarship, and half of it is already gone, but he looks forth with courage and optimism.

4000 Blinded in War.
"Four thousand sons of France were blinded in this war," said Envin. "How hard and painful was their downfall into the great dark abyss. But they were courageous before the life, asthey had been courageous before the death—and now, throughout old France, 4000 blind soldiers sing; for God put in the heart of each Frenchman the joy and on the lips of each Frenchman a song."

"Like the ancient Romans, who after the victory went back to the plow, the soldiers of France went back to the quiet and calm life. They do not regret the sacrifice, and they understand the beauty of the noble sacrifice."

"I feel the atmosphere of America, a light atmosphere of cheerful and frank people. If I don't stay here I shall return to France and practice law—perhaps write a French thesis on America. This is a very free country, much freer I think than France or England. You are a practical people and we French are practical. We do not believe in theory; we believe in power and in practical things, like America."

"Americans, like the French, like to laugh and like to mope; we French like the fun and the jokes, but during the war we were quite a serious people. We are contradictory; calm and excitable. You Americans strike me as impulsive. You are intellectual in spots. In time, perhaps several centuries, you will develop a culture; we French have required centuries. In this country you run toward business; in our country business is not the main demand. You are practical and I think shallow intellectually, but you are a people of destiny and if not overwhelmed and defeated by overconfidence and vanity, you will be a people who will give the highest light to the world."

Fears Sorrow Awaits U.S.

"I sometimes fear that you Americans may be destined to go through a very great sorrow, a very great defeat, some national calamity, to put you people into touch with the great suffering and poverty of the peoples of the world."

"I do not understand this great wealth in your country and the mad chase of fads and pastimes, this great waste of money which millions of starving people need."

"I am sure your civilization has noble and right ideas, the genuine ideas, but at present you are unable to put them in force for world good."

"The trouble of Europe is another war. The League of Nations is a theory. We of France see guns in our neighbors' hands and we prefer to have guns in our hands. Disarmament discussions may be a good thing, but without a practical guarantee we Frenchmen are skeptical."

"It would be very dangerous for our safety to do away with armaments. We prefer to see an alliance of England, France and America as masters of the world, not because it is just, but because it is practical. An offensive and defensive alliance would balk the world."

Questions Good Faith.

"I hear that the churches are for disarming. They are acting on the supposition that nations are acting in good faith, but how are we to know it? Supposing America is arming in a very dense forest, or Germany, or France?"

"Nations play double as well as men, and while your disarmament conference is going on your very Government, and every other Government, is quietly taking steps by its preparation not to be worsted in the next war. Disarmament I deem an evasive, not practical, solution."

"Japan is overcrowded and is a yellow race. Here again France, England and America would be a white block against yellow. The Japanese are a very skillful people, working and thinking silently, like cats. They don't speak and we don't know what they think. In the event of a United States war with Japan within 10 years France undoubtedly would stay out, as she is exhausted and has no blood, though possessing an intense affection for America."

"The Old World is in the gutter and won't get out very soon. There is no harmony, no common ground. There can be no United States of Europe. The races are too well formed, of too strong personality, preferring to go alone in groups. In perhaps 10 years things may be different."

GERMAN NOBILITY SHINES AT HORSE AND AUTO RACES

Gay Crowds Attend Events
at Baden-Baden and Berlin

—French and British Horses Not Allowed to Enter.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
BERLIN.—Fashionable Germany has two crazes now—it's older one of horse racing revived and its new rage for automobile racing. It is hard to say which drew the bigger crowds of cold, stiff-spined Junkerdom, the horse races held at Baden-Baden for the first time in eight years, or the Berlin automobile show and races.

Ex-King William of Wuerttemberg was the titled Duke of Wuerttemberg after his abdication, as King of the paddock at Baden-Baden, and everyone who considered himself somebody socially in Germany was the guest of the easy-going Baden nobility, which runs everything but the police in Baden as if there had been no revolution.

The former King and Baron Rupert Boecklin von Boecklinsau (who married Miss Gertrude Berwind of Philadelphia) had to do the honors, as Prince Max was too busy making plans to break the Treaty of Versailles. They took great pride in the smartness of the Baden-Baden meeting just because it was a really German event. Ex-King William has died since then and his passing away is comparable to that of King Edward so far as concerns the turf.

Only German Horses Allowed.
As German horses were not permitted to race in England or France this summer, the Germans refused to allow French or English studs at Baden-Baden.

"Isolate us if you like," was the position of the German nobility, "we can do the same thing all by ourselves."

For the same reason the ex-King and the Baron would not go to the races at Wiesbaden, which was too full of French. To the casual traveler Wiesbaden was much gayer because of the French, but social Germany kept aloof.

Certainly it was not lack of money that kept the German nobility away, for the nobility has been faring very well since and even during the war. All are land owners, and food is expensive. The Junker is a good farmer and the Junkers are better off than any other class of people in Germany, also still paying taxes on the old basis of values, therefore paying practically nothing.

Prince as a Salesman.
Profiteers crowd them out of Berlin restaurants or Heringsdorf, when it comes down to a smart thing they are there with the money to do it. The automobile show proved that by the sales of the best cars. In the new building of luxurious cars the Junkers bought more of the cars with the best engines while the "schleibers" (profiteers) bought those most luxuriously appointed—one had manicure fittings.

A Prince of Croy was a salesman and all the young Princes of Hohenlohe and of Hohenzollern took a personal interest as marked as if they were giving the show themselves.

No record was broken on the new 26-kilometer (12 miles and a half) track, but the Germans are developing fast drivers.

The old German nobility is keeping a stiff upper lip in this period of isolation following the war and keeping level with fashionable sports; so Germany will be the same as the rest of Europe.

The Austrian, Polish and Russian nobility are "broke," or they would be the same old swans.

FARMERS TOLD WORST OF DEPRESSION PERIOD IS PAST

Jewell Mays Advises Discouraged Ones to Stick to Frying Pan and Not Jump Into Fire.

By the Associated Press.
JEFFERSON CITY, Oct. 13.—"Stick to the frying pan—don't jump into the fire." This is the advice given to the Missouri farmer who is discouraged at the present time. It is the face of the season, and it is just past and the winter that is coming on, by Jewell Mays, Secretary of the State Board of Agriculture, in the concluding chapter of "The 1921 Year Book," published by the State Board of Agriculture and now being compiled.

"The whole country has been on a financial joy ride in a balloon plane of inflation and speculation," Secretary Mays tells the farmer, "but the so-called 'signs of the times' indicate that the low dollar has been reached, that we are touching bottom and that better times are in store."

The worst of the depression and reconstruction period is either passed or is past," Secretary Mays stated, "and it is no time for the farmer to be giving up. He is discouraged, there is no doubt about that—he has reason to be. But the Missouri farmer is not whipped and he will not surrender.

"That many of our farmers are evidencing great losses at the close of the present year is undeniable, that the farmer has been hard hit, is a certainty, but it is also true that the townspeople have felt the depression period in the same manner. There has been, during this period of readjustment, too much buying of wildcat, blue-sky and purely speculative oil stocks and too many automobiles on the part of both the farmer and the townspeople, and the farmer is receiving the results from both sources.

"There are too many farmers holding closing-out sales at the present time, preparatory to renting or selling their farms and moving to town as a result of these restless, uneasy, dissatisfied feelings which the reconstruction period has brought to the farmer. Yet it remains a fact that farming is the safest and surest occupation in the world and that the corn belt, of which Missouri is a part, has fewer crop failures and agricultural bankruptcies than any other section of the nation.

"Above all, it is a sane conclusion that there are better times in store for the farmer, that the midnight of depression for the agricultural producer and for business in general is passed, and that this is no time to quit, but to realize that out of all that the farmer has and is passing through, will come, beyond a doubt, a better organized and more profitable agriculture."

To Relieve Catarrh, Catarrhal Deafness
And Head Noises

Persons suffering from catarrhal deafness, or who are growing hard of hearing and have head noises will be glad to know that this distressing affliction can usually be relieved by the use of an internal medicine that in many instances has effected complete relief after other treatments have failed. Sufferers who could scarcely hear had their hearing restored to an extent that the tick of a watch was plainly audible seven or eight inches away from either ear. Therefore, if you know of someone who is troubled with head noises or deafness, give him a pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar, stir it well and add to it a dash of rum. Put this mixture and hand it to them and you may have seen a remarkable improvement.

This treatment is used this way not only to reduce by tonic action the inflammation and swelling in the air passages, and to assist in expelling the air pressure on the drum, but to correct any excess of mucus that may be present, and the results it gives are nearly always quick and effective.

PRESIDENT ADDRESSES POSTMASTERS' MEETING

Would Rather Have "Hard Boiled Democrat Than Yellow Republican," He Tells Them.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—Confidence that America will be able in the reconstruction period to imbue the other nations of the earth with a spirit of service and understanding was expressed by President Harding last night, in an address before several thousand postmasters and postal employees who have been in convention here. Without referring directly to the coming limitation of armament conference, the President declared his conviction that the "gospel of understanding" accomplished in the years of rehabilitation and realignment ahead.

"Whatever I may have learned tonight," The President said, "I knew above all postmasters long before I came to the presidency. I used to help pick them in the good old days, and I'm not sure but I named more of them 20 years ago than I do today."

"When I was shaking hands with you yesterday at the White House, somehow the thought came to me of the varied communities you represented. I supposed I'm just little partial to the great rural community, because I began my life there. I'm just as proud of the great cities of America as anything else in the Republic, but they're just a little different. They show a little more of the passing passion, while out across the great areas of our republic are the sober, substantial citizens who are the guaranty of the perpetuity of this land."

"I take it we are not all of one party here, and I want to say that I'm not averse to postmasters being interested in politics. If any one ever comes to me and says he is seeking a postmastership and has no political connections, I would be wiped off the slate right away. I'd rather have a hard-boiled Democrat than a yellow Republican."

"And when a man comes to me to seek a place and asks what the compensation is, he also is wiped off the list. No man is worth while who is merely seeking a place, but the man is worth while who is seeking an opportunity for service, particularly in this present period of change and reconstruction. I do not speak in a partisan sense or in a sense of criticism of anything that has gone before, but it's no small problem to put our republic on its feet again and it calls for the service of every man and woman that is interested in his country."

"I have sought to preach the gospel of understanding and service, and I venture to say that the greatest things we shall record in the years of reconstruction will be due to understanding and service. If we can have the understanding and these things for our own people, it is not impossible that this republic can point the world to a way to better understanding and to a better order for mankind."

The President paid high tribute to the ability and service of Postmaster-General Hays and to the loyalty and efficiency of the postal employees, adding an admonition that those in the service must keep in mind that they are working for the Government and the American people alone.

John T. Clapp of Beach Grove, Ind., was elected president of the National League of Postmasters yesterday and J. D. Sullivan of Aitkin, Minn., was named first vice president.

FINED $200 FOR TAKING DRINK ON BELLEVILLE PUBLIC SQUARE

St. Louis Produces Flick When Sheriff, Judge and Assistant State Attorney are Standing Neat.

Charles C. Craft, who said he was a St. Louisian, was fined $200 in Belleville yesterday on his plea of guilty to a charge of transporting liquor in violation of the national prohibition law.

Craft and three other men arrived in Belleville in an automobile yesterday afternoon. After alighting in the public square Craft and two of the others drank from a pint bottle of whisky a few feet from where Sheriff John W. Gandy, Judge J. B. Messick and Assistant State's Attorney Lindauer were standing. They were arrested. Charges against the others were dismissed on Craft's plea of guilty. The whisky bottle bore a St. Louis prescription label but not in the name of any member of the party.

ILLITERACY DECLINING

RAPIDLY IN MISSOURI

3 Per Cent of Population Total Now, Against 4.3 Per Cent 10 Years Ago.

By the Associated Press.

JEFFERSON CITY, Oct. 14.—Illiteracy is rapidly on the decrease in Missouri. This fact is shown by information compiled this week by State Superintendent Sam A. Baker, indicating that only 3 per cent of the total population of the State, 19 years of age or over, is illiterate at the present time, as compared to 4.3 per cent in 1910. The number of illiterate persons in the State, based upon 1920 Federal census reports, is 83,403, according to Supt. Baker. Persons included in the illiterate class are those who cannot write.

Of the total of 3,492 illiterate individuals in the State, 42,931, or more than 50 per cent, are native-born white persons of native parentage, 4,035, or less than 5 per cent, are native born of foreign or mixed parentage, and 17,669, or 20 per cent, are of foreign birth. The number is 18,528, forming the remainder of the illiterate population.

More Illiteracy in Country.

"Contrary to what might be expected," Supt. Baker said, "there is more illiteracy in the rural districts of the State than in the urban districts. The percentage of illiteracy among the rural population is 2.5, while the illiteracy among the urban is only 2.6 per cent. Moreover, the percentage of illiteracy among the native-born in the rural districts is greater than that of the native-born in the urban districts, the former being 2 per cent, while that of the latter is only 1.6 per cent. In the case of the negro population, the percentage is 9.6 in the urban districts, as against 20.6 per cent in the rural. The percentage of illiteracy by counties of the State ranged from 12.2 in Plumb County to 1 per cent in De Kalb and Shelby counties."

"It is also notable that the younger generation is much less illiterate than the older generation," Supt. Baker said. "Statistics show that in the State's larger cities, for instance, 1.9 per cent of the population above 21 years of age is illiterate, while the percentage of illiteracy among young people from 16 to 20 years is only 0.6 per cent. This also goes to show that the school has played in decreasing Missouri's illiteracy during the past 10 years from 4.3 per cent to 2 per cent. It is the best indication that the Missouri schools have been improving and that under the modern school illiteracy is rapidly passing away."

Peck's Misplay Gave Giants Score That Won World's Honors

Hoyt and Nehf Both Hurlled Wonderful Ball, but, as in Thursday's Game, Yankees' Defense Wavered at Critical Moment
Huggins' Men Failed to Hit as Expected.

By J. Roy Stockton,

Of the Post-Dispatch Sport Staff.

NEW YORK. Oct. 14.—From out the dust clouds of a spectacularly dramatic double play, the New York Giants emerged yesterday afternoon champions of the baseball world. Three infield errors, the immediate, obvious vehicle on which, the National League champions rode to their last two victories in triumphing over the American League, had accomplished what the money-pots of the metropolis had been seeking to attain since 1905 when John J. McGraw last gave America's largest city a world-championship title.

But the crowd yesterday had no eyes for the commercial side of the affair. It saw only the action on the field. When Johnnie Rawlings' body baring through the air, as the Giants' second baseman made a desperate effort to stop a smash from the bat of Frank Baker, A Yankee was at first base, at the time, and that Yankees, who happened to be Aaron Ward, was dashing with equal desperation in his effort to round second and reach third base. The crowd saw Rawlings lunge out his gloved hand, fall, scramble to his feet and throw. His effort had been successful. He had snatched the ball as it leaped toward right field and he hurried throw to George Kelly, the Giants' first baseman, retelling him that the man on two bases and the runner Ward, eager to wipe out the memory of his manual errors of the day before, now was speeding toward third base. Kelly put all he had into his throw. And it was enough. The ball sailed straight into the waiting hands of Frank Frisch. The Giants' third baseman caught the ball, dashed down his gloved hand just in time to intercept the spiked toes of Ward as he slid toward the bag. Umpire Quigley snapped his right arm through the air and motioned "out" with the game over. The series was over. The Giants were champions.

Shrieked men, women and urchins surged onto the field. Frankie Frisch led high the ball with which he had tagged Ward. He wanted everybody to know that he had that moment and intended to keep it as a souvenir of a dramatic finish to one of the most intensely exciting games that ever concluded a struggle for the baseball title.

Batter to shake "Napoleon's" Hand.

Frisch and the other Giants rushed for the clubhouse. The crowd, however, thought it should have something to say and it was with difficulty that the athletes escaped. John McGraw was the center of a tangled mass of humanity, scrambling and fighting to shake the hand of the little Napoleon of baseball. One would think that the greatest hero of the game in history had just returned to his native health, so frenzied was the crowd.

The great game of baseball may have reached a highly commercial stage, but the great American public, as represented by the New York audience at yesterday's game, did not seem to care a tinker's dam.

When heads began to cool and elevated strains and busses began clearing in the vicinity of the Polo Grounds, the trend of thought changed and there were expressions of regret that the Yankees had to lose the series, at least the last two games, though handicapped by the great negative factors, rather than clean hitting, had been the Giants' real stepping stone to the championship. If only Aaron Ward had not made these two errors on Wednesday and Roger Peckinpaugh had not stayed that easy grounder in the final game the battle might still be racing.

Technical analysis of the series shows that weakness in the infield, at least weakness in the last two games, and the lack of a third capability to score a tinker's dam.

Faltering Fielders' Fatal Flivers. Then after playing well in the field in other games the Yankees faltered in the fourth game. Mayes gave six hits; the Yankees made eight off Douglas and earned one run. But added nine and two easy grounders, each of which was a run and the Giants won, 2 to 1.

Peckinpaugh, as has been told, erred at a critical moment, yesterday, a run crossed the plate and gave the Giants victory.

Babe Falls in Pitch.

Mighty Babe Ruth came out of the dugout to start that last stand of the Yankees. He had been out of the game with an infected left arm, as all the baseball world well knows. And at this critical moment his appearance, as he strode to the plate, with his mighty wagon tongue in his mouth, the most contemptuous of the game. He swam, and swam again viciously. Nehf pitched to him. Give the Giant credit for that. But Ruth, after missing two and fouling another, against the backstop, "fouled" the fourth swing and the ball rolled harmlessly to Kelly for a dead out.

Then Ward drew a walk, and Frank Baker, renowned as "Home Run" Baker, followed Ruth crowded all slugs into oblivion, dueling with the pitchers, shouting, shrieks and pleads. His bat met the ball and Rawlings came into the picture. But that story has been told.

And so, with sympathetic sympathy, the Yankees for their misfortunes, the "rubs of the diamond," which eventually gave the Giants the title.

Failure of Yankees to Clout the Ball As Expected, Responsible for Downfall

Standing out as an explanation of the Yankees' defeat is the fact that they did not hit the ball as hard as their work in the regular American League season led one to expect. They made more runs in the third game, which they lost, 13 to 5, and in the sixth, which they lost, 8 to 5, than they made in any game that they won. This is explained by the fact that in these games McGraw also had to use second-string hurlers. In each Fred Toney was wounded from the hill, only to have Barnes go in as a relief pitcher and outlast and outgame the secondary staff which Huggins had to use.

While the American League followers may say that the Giants were lucky, that the "breaks" of the game favored them, it must be said in the same breath that the Yankees had plenty of opportunities. Had their defense been air-tight, or had their pitching been uniformly good, they would have won five straight.

And so, with sympathetic sympathy, the Yankees for their misfortunes, the "rubs of the diamond," which eventually gave the Giants the title.

No wonder Douglas trimmed the Yanks with 50 per cent of the team sitting in the grand stand with his arm in a sling.

Aaron Ward kicked in with a costly pair of boots.

After that faux pas of Aaron's the Yanks were looking for a Moses to lead them out of the wilderness.

TOO TRUE. The demon unripe says every time a player makes a boot he thinks he has a kick coming.

One of the Irish delegates said "We won't be back," and another said "We'll be back tomorrow." Which means that they'll probably split the difference and meet 'em half way.

M'GRAW SAYS HE HAS GREATEST AND GAMEST OUTFIT IN THE WORLD

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—"I have the greatest baseball club in the world," declared John J. McGraw, manager of the Giants, a few moments after his team had won the world's baseball classic yesterday. "And unquestionably the gamest," he added.

Miller Huggins, leader of the vanquished Yankees, had nothing alibi to offer and gave the Giants full credit for their triumph. It was a wonderful series, he remarked, but the Yankees simply were unable to do any consecutive hitting.

"Give all the credit to Jennings and the players," McGraw told the reporters who surrounded him. "I can't say too much for Nehf, Snyder, Barnes, Douglas and all the other boys. I have the greatest club in the world and unquestionably the gamest. Never was my heart so set on anything as upon winning this. I almost wanted this world's championship more than I ever wanted anything in my life."

Both managers agreed it was the greatest world series ever played. And so did the president of the National League, John A. Heyder, who took his presidential dignity to the winds with the Glad Tidings series with a dazzling double play "Hurrar for the Nationals," he shouted, waving his arms.

BALTIMORE TAKES LEAD IN LOUISVILLE SERIES

By the Associated Press.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 14.—Baltimore went to the front yesterday in its post-season series with Louisville by winning the fifth game, 10 to 5. The series now stands three to two in favor of the Orioles. Baltimore has 11 hits, the International League champions had rather easy sailing toward the latter part of the game, especially as Ogdens showed better form toward the close.

The Louisville star left-hander of the Orioles, who star in the opening contest of the series in hand fashion, was rather easy for the Orioles and they drove him from the mound in the fourth. Sanders, who had pitched only part of the game and then gave way to a pinch hitter, Ernie Koob, another southpaw, soon went the same route as his fellow left-hander. Wright finished. Ogdens' victory was his third of the day.

The official attendance was 5804 and the receipts $6882.88.

JOHN RAWLINGS PROVED HERO OF WORLD SERIES CONTESTS JUST ENDED

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—If the world series of 1921 must have an individual hero let it be Johnnie Rawlings. For he came out of obscurity, played far above his "copy paper" ability and stood out as batter, fielder and base runner at the Giants' most critical moments. And there can be no player more deserving of the passing praise and adulation. For there is a touch of the somber in the Rawlings horizon.

Brought from the tall-end Phillies with Emil Meisel when McGraw thought he was too old to offer him bank notes and strengthen his team, he probably will depart having served the purpose. He was only a temporary plug in the infield breach. Heide Grob, having served in Cincinnati the one-year sentence imposed by Ogdens, will be in the Giant fold next year. Frisch will go back to second base and those will poor Rawlings go then?

McGraw will not admit that Grob was bought or the deal arranged, but when the National League officials called off the other night to bet him any amount of money on the odds that Grob would be in a Giant uniform in 1922, McGraw changed the subject.

Light scrimmage and a long signal practice this afternoon will be the Pikers' final workout for their meeting with the Grinnell College eleven tomorrow afternoon at Francis Field. The game will start at 3 o'clock.

Added to the absence of Wilbur Long, whose injured shoulder will keep him out of the contest, came the unexpected announcement from Coach Rider today that Shanty, the Pikers' busky end, is also likely to be kept out of the fray because of injuries. Leo, who was kicked in the head in the Apple game last week, and had to be taken out in the first quarter, was thought to have entirely recovered from the effects of the blow. In scrimmage yesterday it was learned that he was suffering from severe spells of dizziness and unless this condition is improved when the team assembles for practice today, Leo will not be permitted to play tomorrow. In addition to his speed and aggressiveness, Shanty is Coach Rider's best punter, which makes his loss a double one.

Sarason, who has developed into a good wing man, will start at Shanty's end while "Baldy" Thunser, Rider's back field star, will do the boozing. Bob Denny, who makes up with fight what he lacks in height, will replace the missing Long at tackle.

Team Average Six Pounds Lower.

The replacement of the 200-pound tackle and the heavy end by two much lighter men will pull down the team's average weight about 6 pounds to a man. Even with their normal team average of 180, the Pikers are expected to be outweighed by Grinnell, whose lineup averages around 190 pounds.

The job of booting the leather on the kick-off, which was formerly the work of Long, will be turned over to Shanty, who is a consistent kicker when he is allowed to.

Grimmell emits a wail.

To offset, in a measure, the Piker disadvantages, reports from the Iowa institution state that the Pioneers may have to dispense with the services of two of their regular backfield men, Jim Mitchell, whose drop kick is considered Grinnell's only solid strength, and Frank Mantell.

In 1917, in which Allen lost the decision, a bout the same year with Jack Dillon, he was the best two-year term and working instructor at Fort Logan, and a bout with Jack Johnson in Leavenworth prison, the pugilistic high lights of his career.

The Eclipse, Chicago, which is sponsored by the bout, was unable to rent the Coliseum and accepted the Pikes. They are Norelius, center; Damesen, right end; and Markley, full. The Grinnell squad, under Coach Saunders, will arrive here to-night.

road Shares Sold in Afternoon—Domestic Oils Do not Hold Early Advance—Steels Weak—Call Money Eases.

Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

W. YORK, Oct. 14.—The Evening Star, in its freighted financial report, says:

Selling in stocks was more active today. At the start domestic were still strong with steels.

In the afternoon, however, sales were actively sold and dropped.

The rest of the list was affected, the weakness being most pronounced in the steel and sugar.

Domestic oils also sagged under the influence of profits.

Toward the close some irregularity existed, but a number of industrials showed losses of a point. Call money meanwhile being lowered from an opening of 6 per cent to 5½ per cent at noon to 5 at the start of the last hour.

Sterling Continues Rally.

Sterling continued the rally which began after yesterday morning's lull and ran up to $2.86½ on a volume of offerings. It is apparent, therefore, that the recovery of the pound is well under way.

The stock of wheat in country elevators and farmers' hands will rise.

It is expected that the total will be in the neighborhood of 550,000 bushels, considerably below last year's level.

This circumstance, with the old condition of the market and export demand, readily explains the recent rally of wheat.

Manufacturing continued heavy, having been as low as 13.82, and rallying to 19 cents was still 10 points on the day. Public interest has been less since the publication of last week's crop statistics, which appear to be fairly supplied and there is just no accumulated accumulation of the visible.

Today's Government consumption report meanwhile shows 13.80, which is 1.25 cents higher than last week.

The consumption is the largest since July, 1920, and the exports compare favorably with those of last several months.

For the Present Banks.

Features of the statement of combined Federal Reserve Systems are a slight falling off in reserve ratio and marked strength in the condition of the Western districts.

At the extreme end of the system, the reduction in ratio is due to expansion of deposits and assets and a reduction in reserves.

Gold reserves are $4,300,000 less, reflecting this fact is of any particular significance to be noted.

An unexpected gain in gold holdings—an increase in demand for the use in the rats—is not unusual at this time in the office of the Comptroller of the Currency.

West no positive explanation is given. However, it is not surprising for the East to owe the West in season. It is also worth noting that the proceeds of the gold loan of $100,000,000 made by Federal and state banks would find their way West.

Other possibility is that New banks are again sending to correspondents in Western districts.

At the same time, the movement of funds from the East to the West is given. However, it is not surprising for the East to owe the West in season. It is also worth noting that the proceeds of the gold loan of $100,000,000 made by Federal and state banks would find their way West.

TRADE IS ACTIVE, TREND IRREGULAR ON STOCK MARKET

Broad Shares Sold in Afternoon—Domestic Oils Do Not Hold Early Advance—Steels Weak—Call Money Eases.

Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—The Evening in its copyrighted financial report, trading in stocks was more active today. At the start domestic were still strong with steels up. In the afternoon, however, rails were actively sold and dealers from the market. The rest of the list was affected by the weakness being most pronounced in the oil and sugar stocks. Domestic oils also sagged under the influence of profit-taking. Trading in some stocks existed but a number of industrials showed losses of a point. Call money meanwhile was being lowered from an opening of 6 per cent to 5½ at noon and 5½ at the close of the hour.

Stocks, Confidence Rally.

Stocks continued the rally which began after yesterday morning's skid and ran up to $3,562 on a full volume of offerings. It is apparent therefore, that the recovery points to a steady future.

Week's Losses, and practically all week's loss has been made, and lire followed sterling, the rest of the continentals were considerably stronger.

From the first strong gains continued to hang around the low price of 70 cents.

Wheat also continued its recovery, December closing another 3½ higher at $1.16. The trade is indulging in some profit-taking.

Government report on the stock of wheat in country elements and farmers' hands will return to the neighborhood of 550,-

000 bushels below that of year

This circumstance with the

The Daily Burgess Bedtime Story

The Twins Taste Honey.

BY THORNTON W. BURGESS.

All through life, as in the forest, seeds are hidden all about for the one who has the courage and the will to seek them out.

—Old Mother Nature.

BUSTER BEAR still had little to do with his children, Boxer and Woof-Woof. He left their training entirely to Mrs. Bear. He was inclined to think children a nuisance, and as he hasn't changed his opinion to this day it proves that Buster Bear had and has a lot to learn. Buster is one of those unfortunate people who have forgotten that they ever were small themselves. I am sorry for people like that. Aren't you?

So whenever the cubs came too near, Buster growled a warning warning down in his throat and the twins promptly scampered to a safe distance. But they no longer were in danger from him because he had been the one when they were babies, before he knew that they were his babies. In fact, Buster was proud of his cubs. If the truth be known, and I am glad to have them about as long as they kept away from him and didn't bother him.

In most things the twins agreed, but they didn't agree about their father. Woof-Woof said she thought he was horrid. She took the greatest care to keep a safe distance from him when he happened to be about. Boxer also was afraid of Buster Bear and treated him with the greatest respect. But secretly he admired his father and resolved to grow up to be just like him. When he thought no one was watching him he would watch Buster Bear and try to do what he did.

One day in the early fall, while Mother Bear was busy tearing open an old stump, the twins wandered off a short distance to see what they might find. Boxer's keen ears caught the sound of muffled growls and snarls and of the tearing apart of wood. Instantly he was all curiosity. A little fearfully the twins stole forward to find out what was going on.

Peering out from the shelter of a ditch, they discovered Buster Bear up in a tree which was partly dead. He was tearing it open and scooping something out of it which seemed to please him greatly, to judge by the little grunts of satisfaction which were mingled with the snarls and roars. Around him was a cloud of flying insects. He was taking a few bows and then to sit at them. Mingled with the other noises was a faint hum which had an ugly sound. Buster Bear had found a tree and was robbing the bees of their sweets.

"What is he doing?" whispered Woof-Woof.

"I haven't the slightest idea," replied Boxer.

Just then Buster tore out a strip of wood from the side of the hollow and let it just a little way from the twins. Attached to it was a big honeycomb filled with bees. Boxer, being the bolder of the two, crept over to find out what was in it. When he found that honey he knew that he had found the most delicious food that a bear can find. With the first taste he forgot everything else. He didn't even mind the wings of a few bees who had descended upon him.

Woof-Woof, seeing that Boxer had found something to eat, joined him. Boxer tried to crowd her away, but she had smelled that honey and she intended to have her share, and she did so. Then those cubs sat up at the foot of the tree, looking up at Buster Bear with longing eyes and little mouths and uttering little words. Now and then a piece of honeycomb would drop and the bees would pounce on it and fight for it. Yet they did. They didn't know any manners at all. It was shameful the way those greedy little bears quarreled and fought over that honey.

MORE TRUTH THAN POETRY

MISMATED.
Brought up on the rugged soil
Beneath the prairie sun,
I early learned to look on toll
As something to be done.
I felt that I should rather die
Than shirk a job or task
And when I grew to manhood I
Was wedded to my work.

Alas! how passing years destroy
Ideals of our youth,
How things that brought us only joy
Grow ugly and uncouth!
Before a dozen years passed by
I cursed the cruel Fates
For I found that work and I
Were not congenial mates.

If I essayed to take my ease
Or to the golf course go,
It mattered not how much I'd tease,
Work said abruptly, "No."
To stupid, dreary toil held fast
I suffered sore distress,
And as the decades slowly passed,
I liked work less and less.

Dishlike is but a feeble word—
A better one is hate.
My black and bitter wrath was stirred
Against my graceless mate,
And if I ever gain my way
The law will take its course
And I from work some happy day
Will get me a divorce!

Only .3 Per Cent Among Native Whites of Montana, Idaho, Wyoming, Utah and Washington
By the Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—Five Western states—Montana, Idaho, Wyoming, Utah and Washington had less illiteracy among their native white population in 1920 than any other states, it was shown in figures made public today by the Census Bureau.

The native white population of those five states classed as illiterate, namely, unable to write, amounted to three-tenths of one per cent. The district of Columbia had the same percentage and South Dakota, Nevada and Oregon ranked next, each with four-tenths of one per cent.

The State of New Mexico had the greatest literacy among its native white population in 1920, the percentage being 11.6. Louisiana was next with a percentage of 10.4.

Among the foreign white population, the largest percentage was 33.5 for Texas and the smallest 4.7 for South Dakota and Washington. The percentage of illiteracy among negro population ranged from 38.5 per cent in Louisiana to 2.9 per cent in New York.

Arizona led all states in decreasing illiteracy between 1910 and 1920, having reported 4.2 in 1910 and 2.1 last year.

FIRE ANNIVERSARY

Business District Damaged and 10 Residences Burned
During Night; Loss Put at $1,000,000.

By the Associated Press
DALLAS, Tex., Oct. 15.—After raging six hours last night, a fire starting in the business section of Paris and spreading to the residential district was brought under control at 4 o'clock this morning, according to telephone advices received here from Honey Grove, 20 miles west of Paris. Besides the loss in the business district, 10 residences were destroyed and the total loss will be around $1,000,000, the message said. Wire communication was out to Paris at 2:30 this morning.

The blaze originated from an undetermined cause in the Rogers Wade Furniture Co.'s building, a factory structure, in the business district.

Destroying that building, the flames swept northwest into the residential district, burning dwellings on Bonham and Graham streets, five blocks distant from the fire's origin.

Five years ago last night Paris was swept by the most disastrous fire in its history, the loss reaching into millions of dollars. Strangely enough last night also marked the closing of a Lamar County centennial celebration, the concluding act of which was "the burning of Paris" reproduced pyrotechnically.
